

Safeguarding you against fraud.

Guarding against fraudsters is easier than you think.

Dear Valued Client,

It's important to protect your valuable banking information at all times. Criminals target you when you least expect it, but there are many simple ways to keep your guard up when you're at work, out shopping or travelling abroad.

Never share your passwords or personal information

Always use secure Wi-Fi hotspots – hackers love unsecured public networks

Always clear the password history after using a public computer

Protect your credit and debit cards at all times – they can be cloned in an instant

Guard your PIN at ATMs and payment terminals - never share it with anyone

Fraudsters usually try to obtain your card details, account details and login details, so you should always be vigilant.

Online

Never click links on unfamiliar websites that request your banking details

Email

Never respond to emails that ask for your banking details

Phone

Never give out your banking details over the phone
