3.12 Cancellation Rights applicable to Unit Trusts

3.12.1 For the purposes of this Part B3, clause 3.12, “Unit Trust” means a Scheme under which the property is held on trust for the participants and is authorised under section 286(2) of the Securities and Futures Act, but excludes a Scheme which is listed on a Securities exchange approved under section 9 of the Securities and Futures Act.

3.12.2 This clause shall not apply in the following situations:

- (a) you are not an individual;
- (b) you are an existing participant in a Unit Trust and are purchasing units in that Unit Trust on a second or subsequent occasion, unless the second or subsequent purchase was entered into by you within the Cancellation Period set out in this Part B3, clause 3.12.3 below of your first purchase; or
- (c) where you participate in a RSP, the second and any subsequent payment.

3.12.3 You have a right to cancel any agreement to purchase any units in any Unit Trusts, within seven calendar days from the date you sign the Application Form (the “Cancellation Period”). Where the last day of the Cancellation Period falls on a Sunday or a public holiday, the Cancellation Period shall be extended to the next calendar day, not being a Sunday or a public holiday.

3.12.4 You may cancel such agreement to purchase by filling in and signing a copy of the relevant Part in our Investment Transaction Form (a copy of which was retained by you at the time of application) and returning it to us within the Cancellation Period. If the cancellation request is sent by post, the relevant day for determining whether the right to cancel has been exercised within the Cancellation Period is the date on which such request is posted by you and for the avoidance of doubt, this is agreed to be as determined by the postmark. A cancellation request is valid only when it is served on any of our agents with authority to accept notice on our behalf.

3.12.5 The relevant price for calculating the amount to be refunded, if any, will be the dealing price following the receipt of the cancellation request by us, as determined by our time-stamp or any other reasonable means, to be determined by us at our discretion. Where the market value of the units held by you is greater than the original amount paid by you, we are not obliged to pay the excess amount to you but such excess amount shall be retained in the relevant Unit Trust. Any reduction in the market value of the units shall be borne by you. We shall be entitled to recover any expense we incur by reducing the amount to be repaid to you provided that such expense is reasonably related to the original purchase and subsequent cancellation of units by you.

3.12.6 In the event that an agreement for purchase of units in a Unit Trust is cancelled in accordance with this Part B3, clause 3.12, the proceeds of such cancellation calculated in accordance with this Part B3, clause 3.12, if not yet paid to the Manager, will be repaid to you within two Business Days of such cancellation less any fees, charges, or other amounts due to us.

3.12.7 For the avoidance of doubt, where the proceeds from any cancellation of Unit Trusts (the “Original Units”) are utilised for the purchase of other Unit Trusts (the “Subsequent Purchase”), the Subsequent Purchase will be treated as a fresh purchase. If you decide to cancel the Subsequent Purchase, you will not be entitled to have the Original Units returned. If you wish to purchase the Original Units, you may only apply for the Original Units at the prevailing applicable price.

3.12.8 During the Cancellation Period, you may choose to redeem the units in such Unit Trust instead of exercising your right to cancel. In this case, the redemption procedures as set out herein shall apply. You will not be able to enjoy the benefits of cancellation in the event that you choose to redeem units in such Unit Trust (i.e. no refund of initial sales charge will be given for redemption and levy of realisation charge is allowed) and the redemption proceeds that you will receive may be lower than the amount being refunded had you exercised your cancellation right, if the appreciation in the value of the units in such Unit Trust is less than the initial sales charge. The published prices are indicative in nature and can change during the period between the submission and processing of the redemption request.

17 Correction of price for determining Relevant Price

For purposes of determining the Relevant Price for any day, if the price, determined by the Calculation Agent at its discretion, relevant for determining the Relevant Price published or announced on a given day is subsequently corrected and the correction is published or announced by the person responsible for that publication or announcement by the earlier of (i) 30 calendar days after the original publication or announcement, or (ii) the third Commodity Business Day prior to the next date on which any payment or delivery is due to be made by us under a CLSI or in respect of which any relevant determination in relation to a CLSI may have to be made, the Calculation Agent may determine the amount that is payable or deliverable or make any determination in connection with the CLSI, after taking into account such correction, and to the extent necessary, may adjust any relevant terms of the CLSI to account for such correction.

18 Commodity Accounts

18.1 Application and inconsistencies

This clause 18 will apply only in respect of a CLSI which provides for delivery of any Commodity which is Bullion. If this clause applies, the provisions in this clause shall prevail over clause 6 of Part C1 in case of any inconsistency.

18.2 Entering into a CLSI

18.2.1 If you wish to place a CLSI with us and if you do not already have a Commodity Account for the Commodity which is designated as the Alternate Instrument for that CLSI, you must use, and duly complete and sign, such application forms for the opening of such Commodity Account for that Commodity as we may from time to time prescribe at our discretion.

18.2.2 Notwithstanding any provision in these Terms, we reserve the right at our discretion not to open any Commodity Account without having to furnish any reason whatsoever.

18.2.3 Without prejudice to the generality of the Terms, you shall not assign, charge, transfer, mortgage, pledge or otherwise encumber or permit to subsist any assignment, charge, transfer, mortgage, pledge or other encumbrance over any of your Commodity Accounts, the CLSIs therein or any credit balance thereof to any person (other than us) without our prior written consent (which shall not be unreasonably withheld).

18.2.4 If required by us, you must also open and maintain such other account(s) with us for as long as you have placed any CLSI with us which CLSI is still outstanding.

18.2.5 If the Base Instrument for a CLSI is a Commodity, then before placing any CLSI with us, you must ensure that there is standing to the credit of your relevant Commodity Account (or such of your other accounts with us as we may permit), an available credit balance of an amount of the Base Instrument of that CLSI not less than the Principal Amount of that CLSI. For the avoidance of doubt, if an amount of the relevant Commodity in the credit balance of your Commodity Account has been applied towards placement in a CLSI, that amount or quantity of the Commodity shall cease to be available for withdrawal, further placements hereunder or any other dealings, until final settlement of the said CLSI.

18.2.6 If the Base Instrument for a CLSI is a Currency, the payment of the Principal Amount shall be made in cash in accordance with clause 2 of Part C1. Unless otherwise agreed by us, you must make all payments to us in the Settlement Currency only.

18.2.7 You further acknowledge and agree that we do not accept physical delivery or physical deposit of any Commodity, whether for the purposes of your placement of any CLSI hereunder, for crediting into your Commodity Account or otherwise. Accordingly, you may not place any CLSI with us, where the Base Instrument for such CLSI is a Commodity, unless at the time of such placement there is an available credit balance of such Commodity in your Commodity Account derived from previous placements of CLSIs with us.

- 18.2.8 You acknowledge and confirm that no Commodity is held in any of your Commodity Accounts, notwithstanding any credit balance of Commodities in such Commodity Accounts. If any of your Commodity Accounts has an available credit balance of any Commodity, you may only:
- 18.2.9 If you request to withdraw the whole or any part of the available credit balance of a Commodity in your Commodity Account (referred to in this clause as “withdrawal quantity”), or credit any amount of a Commodity in your Commodity Account (referred to in this clause as “crediting quantity”), your request shall be deemed to be an irrevocable instruction by you to us to the effect that you shall purchase or sell (as the case may be) the relevant withdrawal quantity or crediting quantity (as the case may be) of the Commodity to us at the Spot Conversion Rate on the date of such request. We shall, as soon as practicable upon receipt of such request, pay to you in the Settlement Currency the purchase consideration for such withdrawal quantity of the Commodity and debit that withdrawal quantity from your Commodity Account, or deduct from you in the Settlement Currency the sale consideration for such crediting quantity of the Commodity and credit that crediting quantity into your Commodity Account (as the case may be).
- 18.2.10 No interest, yield or return whatsoever is payable to you on any credit balance for the time being standing to the credit of any of your Commodity Accounts.
- 18.2.11 Except as expressly stated in the specific CLSI Terms, no other interest, yield or return whatsoever is payable to you for that CLSI.
- 18.2.12 If the proceeds of a CLSI are deliverable in the form of a Commodity, you are only entitled to have the relevant quantity of such Commodity credited to your Commodity Account. You are not entitled to physical delivery of that Commodity in any form and are also not entitled to any rights, title or interest to such Commodity. The quantity of Commodity, when credited to your Commodity Account, may only be withdrawn by selling that quantity to us at the Spot Conversion Rate determined by us or be used to place another CLSI with us with that Commodity as the Base Instrument. Except as described in the foregoing, you cannot withdraw or require physical delivery of any quantity of that Commodity in your Commodity Account or trade or deal with such Commodity (or any rights in such Commodity) with any party.
- 18.3 Hold on Amounts Payable
- You understand and accept that without prejudice to any provision in the Customer Terms, we shall be entitled to, from the time that you make a request to make any crediting into, or withdrawal from, your Commodity Account to the date that such crediting or withdrawal is executed, place a hold on such of your bank accounts with us as we may determine, for all sums that may be payable to the us by you in connection with such crediting or withdrawal, as security for the settlement obligations in relation to the crediting or withdrawal. For the avoidance of doubt, during such time that the hold is in place, you shall not be entitled to withdraw, draw down, utilise, or otherwise deal with the amount in your accounts that are subject to the hold.

The terms of the ELSI shall be on the terms agreed by you. Where the terms agreed by you include a possible range of values in respect of one or more Reference Rate(s) relevant to the ELSI, the Reference Rate(s) thereafter determined by us at our discretion as being the relevant rate(s) shall be binding on you. If you fail to place an ELSI following agreement on the terms, you will be liable for our costs and losses, including the cost of unwinding any hedging positions taken by us in relation to the ELSI.

Upon making any such adjustment, we shall give notice as soon as practicable to you (in accordance with the clause 7 (Notices and communications) in the Customer Terms), giving brief details of the adjustment and of the Potential Adjustment Event. For the avoidance of doubt, failure to send a notice shall not affect the validity of the adjustment.

The Calculation Agent may, but is in no way obliged to, determine the appropriate adjustment in respect of the applicable event by reference to the adjustment made by any options exchange or quotation system to options on the Shares or Units or ETNs, as the case may be, traded on that options exchange or quotation system. If options on the Shares, Units or ETNs, as the case may be, are not traded on the relevant exchange or quotation system, the Calculation Agent will make such adjustment, if any, as the Calculation Agent at its discretion determines appropriate, with reference to the rules and precedents (if any) set by any recognised exchange or quotation system on which options on shares, exchange traded funds or exchange traded notes are traded for dealing with the applicable event that in the determination of the Calculation Agent would have given rise to

Part E: Safe Custody Services Terms

This Part E applies to the provision of safe custody services.

1 Provision of Safe Custody Services

- 1.1 We or our nominee may serve as custodian in relation to Securities or other property which you may from time to time acquire from or through, or (with our agreement) deposit with, us or any of our offices and which shall comprise all such Securities as may from time to time be paid or delivered or transferred to us and accepted or collected by us at our discretion for safekeeping on behalf of you in accordance with this Part E Terms. You shall pay such custody fees or charges as may be notified and varied by us from time to time.
- 1.2 Our appointment shall be deemed to commence on the date of your agreement to this Part E Terms or the date on which your Investments are first accepted by us, whichever is earlier, and shall continue until terminated pursuant to the provisions of clause 11 of this Part E.
- 1.3 We or our nominee shall be entitled to appoint, without the further consent from you, any bank, trust company or member firm of any Securities exchange or Securities market in any jurisdiction (including any nominee holding such Securities) or any other person to act as a sub-custodian of any of the Securities held by us or our nominee on such terms as we may, at our discretion, consider appropriate, and to pay the fees, costs, commissions and other expenses of such sub-custodian. We or our nominee shall not be liable or responsible for any act or omission of any such sub-custodian or any of our officers, employees, servants or agents in connection with the Securities in our custody, provided that we or our nominee have exercised reasonable care and skill in the selection of any such sub-custodian.

2 Our Duties and Responsibilities

We shall have the following duties and responsibilities with respect to the Securities which we will perform on a best endeavours basis and subject to prevailing laws and regulations and market conditions in Singapore or in any country referred to in sub-clauses 2.1(b) or 3.1(c):-

- (a) Open and maintain a custody account or custody accounts (the "Custody Account") at our, or our nominee's ("Nominee"), office in Singapore. We will, or will procure that our Nominee keep a separate record in our books of all Securities received and held by us/it from time to time for your account and will arrange for all Securities to be held in safe custody in such manner and in such name as we may at our discretion determine. Custody of the Securities may be held on the basis that it is capable of being separately identified as belonging to or being attributed to you or otherwise (as determined by us or our Nominee). If custody is held on the basis that it is not capable of being so separately identified, the Securities will be pooled, such that those Securities which in our opinion are of the same nature or category are held together on a commingled basis. In this situation, your interest in the Securities may not be identifiable by separate certificates, or other physical documents or equivalent electronic records, but we or our Nominee will maintain a record of your interest in the Securities.

- (b) Arrange for all documents of title in bearer form to be deposited in our vault in such countries as we think fit or otherwise dealt with as we may think proper for the purpose of providing for the safe keeping thereof, including the use of agents, Nominees, sub-custodians, any person operating a depository or clearing system or any central depository in any country which operates a transactional system for the central handling of Securities (each, an "Agent") or equivalent book entries. You confirm that you authorise us to hold Securities which are to be held in any central depository or clearing house in a fungible account or otherwise so that our aggregate holding and/or you and/or other customers is held in one account or is evidenced by one document of title but in each case we shall keep such records that at all times the interest of you in any such Securities is readily apparent.
- (c) In accordance with your (or the authorised person's) instructions, receive and deliver any documents of title and thereafter act in accordance with your (or the authorised person's) instructions relating to the same and we shall:
- (i) collect all interest and dividends and all other distributions, income, payments and corporate action issues (if successfully subscribed), whether paid in cash or in kind, on the Securities, as the same become payable but for the avoidance of doubt, the same shall be paid or delivered to you only when they are actually received by us;
 - (ii) present for payment any of the documents of title for Securities which are called, redeemed or otherwise become payable and all coupons and other income items which fall for payment upon presentation and remit the cash received therefrom and, in the absence of authorised instructions, remit the same to, or hold the same on your behalf as we deem appropriate;
 - (iii) exchange documents of title where the exchange is purely ministerial (including, without limitation, the exchange of temporary documents of title for those in definitive form and the exchange of warrants, or other documents, for the documents of title themselves);
 - (iv) whenever we receive notification of a voluntary corporate action including but not limited to rights entitlement or a fractional interest resulting from a rights issue or stock dividend in relation to any Security and such rights entitlement or fractional interest bears an expiration date, promptly notify you of the terms and conditions thereof, but should the authorised person's instructions not be received by the date specified by us in our notification to you then either the entitlement will be allowed to lapse or a default option be selected on your behalf (if so stated in the notification);

- (v) execute in your name wherever we deem appropriate, such documents and other certificates as may be required to obtain the payment of income from the Securities or the sale thereof;
 - (vi) at our discretion, pay or cause to be paid, any and all taxes or levies in the nature of taxes imposed on the Securities by any governmental authority; and
 - (vii) deliver to you or your nominated agent as soon as reasonably possible after receipt by us, all letters, notices and announcements in connection with voluntary corporate actions relating to the Securities except those which are documents of title or are needed by us to exercise rights in relation to Securities.
- (d) At our discretion, pay all taxes, management, custodian, secretarial fees or other operating expenses (including, without limitation, any brokerage fees and commissions) payable in connection with any of the above and, in addition: any reasonable expenses of whatsoever nature incurred by us in relation to our duties and responsibilities under this Part E.
- (e) Endorse and collect all cheques, drafts or other orders for the payment of money received by us for your account.
 - (f) Provide you with notice received by us of any attempt by any party to assert any claim over the Securities or any right or interest therein and we shall take all reasonable action to protect the Securities from such claim until you have had a reasonable time to respond to such notice.

2.2 Without limiting the generality of the foregoing, we may, where we consider appropriate, arrange for the Securities to be held overseas. In such case, the Securities may be subject to the laws of that jurisdiction and your rights may be different from rights relating to the Securities subject to the settlement, legal and regulatory requirements in Singapore.

2.3 We have no duty or responsibility to return to you Securities bearing serial numbers identical with those delivered to us so long as the Securities returned are of the same class, denomination and nominal amount and rank pari passu with those accepted by us, subject always to any capital reorganisation or exchange which may have occurred.

2.4 You agree that any and all Securities or other property held by or deposited with us, our nominee or their respective nominees or agents are at your sole risk. Unless expressly provided in these Investment Products Terms, our duty in respect of the custody of Securities or other property under clause 2 of this Part E shall be limited to acting as bare trustee and to exercise good faith in respect of any action or inaction in relation to such custody. We are under no duty to examine or verify the validity of the ownership of or title to any Securities or other property and shall not be liable in respect of any defect in ownership or title.

2.5 We will claim all amounts in respect of interest or dividends pertaining to your Securities held in custody which are known to us to be payable. Such amounts shall be paid to you or held in a client money bank account as and when they are actually received by us, but we are not responsible for claiming any other entitlement or benefit you may have on your behalf. We may execute in your name whenever we deem it appropriate such documents and other certificates as may be required to obtain the payment of income from your Securities or the sale thereof.

2.6 Where more than one person holds beneficially Securities held by us or our nominee, we shall be entitled to act on any instructions made or signed by any one of such beneficial holders or owners or applicants or their survivor(s) or successors-in-title. Notice to any one constitutes notice to all. In the event of the death of any one or more of such joint beneficial holder(s) of Interests, we are entitled to pay or deliver to the order of the survivor(s) or successor(s)-in-title all monies or Securities standing to the credit of or held or owned beneficially by the joint holders in their joint names to or to the order of survivor(s) or the successor(s)-in-title.

2.7 We may, but are not obliged to make available to you any sums which we are expecting to receive in respect of your Securities or other assets until it has been established that we have received that sum. If and to the extent that we do so but it transpires that we have not received the sum which we paid out:

- (a) you shall on request refund that sum to us; and
- (b) you shall on request pay to us the amount (as certified by us) which will indemnify us against any funding or other cost, loss, expense or liability sustained or incurred by it as a result of paying out that sum before receiving it.

3 Our Powers

3.1 We shall have the following powers exercisable on your behalf for the Custody Account at such time and in such manner as we may in our discretion think fit for the purposes of performing the duties and responsibilities set out in clause 2 of this Part E:

- (a) To do or omit to do all such acts or things as we at our discretion consider to be necessary, expedient or desirable in order to perform our duties thereunder or to comply with any law, order, regulation or direction of any governmental or regulatory authority.

- (c) At our discretion, to employ agents, advisors, attorneys, brokers, dealers and managers in any part of the world and to pay their fees, costs, commissions and other expenses.
- (d) At our discretion, to pay any taxes or other fiscal impositions in any part of the world in respect of the Securities or any income thereof or any transaction entered into by or on the instructions of the authorised person on your behalf for the Custody Account and whether or not enforceable against us.
- (e) To execute and deliver such certificates in connection with the transfer and/or delivery of the Securities as may be required under the laws of any jurisdiction to exempt from any tax or duty on any such transfer and/or delivery which is otherwise entitled to be so exempted.
- (f) Upon instructions received in accordance with Part B of the Customer Terms or the equivalent provisions of the Current Account Terms, as applicable, to sell and/or deliver Securities against the purchasers, brokers or such persons cheque or receipt or undertaking to pay for the same and, in the absence of instructions from an authorised person, remit the same to or hold the same on behalf of you as we may deem appropriate. If we, at our discretion, remit the proceeds of sale to you or, if requested by instructions from an authorised person, to another person before any cheque or other remittances from the purchaser, the broker or such persons agent has been cleared, you will promptly return to us such proceeds in the event that such cheque or other remittance is not honoured on first presentation.

3.2 You hereby authorise us to exercise all rights accruing or vested in you under applicable law in relation to the rights of voting in respect of any of the Securities held for your account. We or our nominee will exercise all rights of voting in respect of any of the Securities in such manner as we deem fit. You agree that we may at our own discretion decide not to exercise any of such voting rights and you shall not have any right to interfere or complain. You agree that we shall not be required to inform you of the dates on which any meetings will be held in respect of any Securities held pursuant to these Terms, nor of the items on the agendas of such meetings. We are not obligated to make available all or any notices, proxies and proxy soliciting materials in relation to the Securities held pursuant to these Terms. In addition, we shall not be obliged to forward to you, after receipt by us, of any letters, notices, circulars, reports and announcements relating to any Securities.

- 3.4 Any Securities or other property held by us or our nominee as custodian shall be subject to our rights of lien and setoff as set out in clause 1.8 of Part B1, and may also be subject to other similar rights or security interests of ours under other agreements between us and you. You agree and acknowledge that our nominee, and any other nominee, sub-custodian or agent or our nominee, may also claim a lien or security interest over any of your property held by it.
- 4 Registration of Securities
- 4.1 Unless otherwise instructed by the authorised person, we shall register all Securities in respect of which registration shall be necessary in order to protect the transfer thereof or title thereto as soon as practicable after receipt of the necessary documents by us, in our name (or in the name of our nominee or any other nominee, sub-custodian or agent) or in such other name as we may think proper, and/or to deliver the Securities to any authority as now or hereafter required by any applicable law or the rules and regulations of the stock exchange or clearing house in question on your behalf, without disclosing the fiduciary relationship, at our discretion, unless disclosure is required by any applicable law or if the local law of the relevant Securities requires the relevant Securities to be registered in the name of the beneficial owner. Expenses of any nature incurred by us in effecting such registration shall be payable by you. We may delay in procuring any such registration or delivery for such period as we may think fit. You must sign and execute all instruments of transfer and other documents and give all such instruments and things that may be required by us or our nominee in our dealings with the Securities. - 4.4 You hereby acknowledge that prior to us becoming the registered owner of any of the Securities, we may not be in a position to carry out all of the obligations imposed upon us and you shall indemnify and hold us harmless from and against all costs and damages which you may suffer or incur as a result of us not becoming the registered owner of any Securities.

- You agree that we may at our own discretion decide not to exercise any votes attaching to the Securities for your account and you shall not have any right to interfere or object.
- 6 Taxes
- You shall pay or reimburse us from time to time on demand for any stamp duties, levies imposed, penalties or other taxes payable upon transfers or deliveries of, or otherwise in respect of, Securities made hereunder.

- 14.3 Statements showing the assets held by us as custodian will be sent to you on a periodic basis.

15 Power of Attorney

You hereby appoint us as your attorney, with full power, in your name, to take all necessary action, whether in the nature of legal proceedings or otherwise, to effect any thing, matter or act to be done by us on your behalf, in accordance with this Part E.

APPENDIX A - Risk Disclosure Statement Relating To Securities

This Risk Disclosure Statement contains risk disclosures specifically relevant to Part B. All capitalized terms not defined herein shall have the meaning ascribed to it in Part B.

1. The prices of instruments fluctuate, sometimes dramatically; the price of any individual security may experience upward or downward movements, and may even become valueless. There is an inherent risk that losses may be incurred rather than profit made as a result of buying and selling instruments. In addition, any representation of past performance is not necessarily a guide to future performance.
2. Instruments are contractual obligations of the Issuer(s) or other relevant contractual counterparty and of no other person. These obligations are not secured. Unless we are the Issuer or your contractual counterparty, you have no rights under the instrument against us or other persons. In such cases, your contractual counterparty or the third party Issuer, and not us, will be liable to you under the transaction or otherwise in respect of a product purchased by you. Accordingly, in considering whether to enter into such transaction, you should take into account all risks associated with such counterparty or third party Issuer, including the counterparty's or Issuer's financial standing.
3. You should satisfy yourself that the credit risk of the Issuer or other relevant contractual counterparty to a Transaction or Service is acceptable to you, including but not limited to the failure by the Issuer or counterparty to make good, valid or timely delivery or payment to you. Further, an Issuer may experience adverse changes to its financial condition which may result in an increased volatility in the price of the any individual Security (including in the case of a debt security, a possible downgrade to any credit rating assigned to such Security), negatively affect the liquidity of the individual Security and thereby make it more difficult to sell the Security. In addition, changes in the economic and political conditions in general, or changes in economic and political conditions specific to an Issuer of a Security or a counterparty to a Transaction or Service, may have an adverse impact on the creditworthiness of the issuer or the counterparty. There is no assurance of protection against a default of its obligations by the issuer or counterparty. You would be adversely impacted if you have purchased such Securities.
4. In the case of zero-coupon bond instruments or zero-coupon Structured Notes, they do not carry coupon payments and may have longer tenors compared to regular bonds or Structured Notes and so may not be suitable for persons seeking a steady stream of income.
5. Where a transaction is "structured" or made up of several instruments, you should be aware that there is risk associated with each instrument evaluated separately and the risk of the transaction evaluated as a whole. Therefore, your assessment of the transaction should consider the individual instruments and the transaction as a whole.

6. Certain transactions may be high risk transactions and the net outcome will depend on the performance of underlying reference obligations, assets and/or certain other financial instruments or indices (the "Underlying indicator"), whether the Underlying Indicator forms part of the security under the transaction or not. You should therefore ensure that you fully understand the risks involved in the Underlying Indicator and satisfy yourself that you are willing to accept such risks.
7. A warrant (or 'subscription warrant') is a time-limited right to subscribe for Securities and is exercisable against the original Issuer of the underlying Securities. A relatively small movement in the price of the underlying security results in a disproportionately large movement, favourable or unfavourable, in the price of the warrant. The prices of warrants can therefore be volatile. It is essential for anyone who is considering purchasing warrants to understand that the right to subscribe which a warrant confers is invariably limited in time with the consequence that if the investor fail to exercise this right within the predetermined timescale then the investment becomes worthless.

Insolvency

8. In the event of the Insolvency of the Issuer of a Security or the counterparty to a Transaction or Service, you may experience delay in liquidating your investment and may suffer losses, including a decline in the value of your investment (which may be zero). Further, the insolvency of the Issuer of a Security or the counterparty to a Transaction or Service may lead to positions being liquidated or closed out without your consent. You could lose your entire investment, including any monies held in the account, any payment to be made or Securities to be delivered to you, and any assets lodged by you as collateral. In the event of the insolvency of the Issuer of a Security or the counterparty to a Transaction or Service, your claims for recovery will generally be subordinated to the claims of the preferred or secured creditors of the Issuer or counterparty.

Risks of over-the-counter transactions

9. A Structured Investment is regarded as an over-the-counter ("OTC") transaction given that such Structured Investments are neither traded nor listed on any exchange, but traded directly between two parties (buyer and seller) on a principal basis, unless otherwise stated. As prices and characteristics of OTC financial instruments are often individually negotiated, there may be no central source for obtaining prices and there can be inefficiencies and a lack of transparency in the pricing of such instruments. You are thus exposed to the credit risk of the counterparty in which you enter into bilateral agreement with. In the case of Structured Deposits and Structured Investments in Part C of these Investment Products Terms, SCB would be your counterparty. In addition, you may be exposed to liquidity risks as it may be difficult or impossible to liquidate an existing position. We cannot and do not warrant that there is an active trading market and the price we secure for you will at any time be the best price available to you. In entering into an OTC transaction with you, we may make a profit despite you incurring a loss. You should consider carefully whether each OTC product is suitable in light of your investment experience, objective, financial position, risk propensity and other relevant considerations. You should therefore ensure that you understand the risks associated with OTC products and transactions and seek independent advice, if necessary, before making a decision to invest in any of the OTC products. It may accordingly be difficult for you to liquidate an existing position under, assess the value of, determine a fair price for or assess your exposure to risks under such transaction. This uncertainty should be factored in by you in the overall consideration of the potential impact of your investment in the transaction.

Additional Risk Disclosures

Liquidity Risks

10. At certain times, or under certain market conditions, you may find it difficult or impossible to liquidate a position, to assess the value or to determine a fair price. Market conditions (e.g. illiquidity) and/or the operation of the rules of certain markets (e.g. the suspension of trading in any security because of price limit or trading halts) may increase the risk by making it difficult or impossible to effect transactions or liquidate/offset positions. This is particularly so for unlisted Securities where there is no formal market for such Securities and are often thinly traded. In addition, there can be no certainty that market traders will be prepared to deal in Securities, in particular in relation to unlisted Securities, and proper information in determining their current value may not be available. Whilst generally it may be easier to liquidate a position or to assess the value or determine a fair price for listed Securities, there is no assurance that there will be a liquid market for such Securities or that the value or fair price can be obtained.

Emerging Markets

11. Transactions or Services related to emerging countries (e.g. Securities or underlying reference Assets or reference entities of Structured Investments which are listed in or linked to emerging countries), including those located in Asia, Latin America and Eastern Europe, may carry high investment risks. Such risks include political risks (including confiscation of assets, restriction of your rights of disposal, or declines in the value of assets as a result of state intervention or the introduction of state monitoring and control mechanisms), risks of economic instability, greater prevalence of illegitimate market practices (e.g. insider trading) and laws and regulations which afford inadequate protection and safeguards to investors.

12. Derivatives

Derivatives are complex financial instruments. They can be linked to a wide range of reference underlying(s). Their nature and terms vary significantly.

Derivatives are linked to one or more reference underlyings, whereby the value of the derivatives and/or the rights and obligations under the derivatives depend on the performance of and/or occurrence or non-occurrence of event(s) related to the reference underlying(s). However, investing in derivatives is not the same as investing directly in the reference underlying(s). You do not acquire any right in respect of the reference underlyings(s). For example, where the relevant derivatives are linked to share(s), You do not acquire any right in respect of the share(s), including without limitation, the right to receive dividends or other distributions related to the share(s). Changes in the price or level of the reference underlying(s) may not lead to a corresponding change, or any change at all, in the value of, and/or the potential payment and/or deliveries under the derivatives.

Derivatives are volatile instruments and may be subject to considerable fluctuations in value and other inherent risks associated with the reference underlying(s). Changes in the price(s) of the reference underlying(s) can be unpredictable, sudden and large. Such changes may result in the price(s) of the reference underlying(s) moving adversely to your interest. A small movement in the price(s) of the reference underlying(s) may result in a drastic change in the value of, and/or potential payments and/or deliveries under, the derivatives. When two or more factors are exerting effects on a derivative simultaneously, the value of the derivative may become unpredictable.

The value of, and/or potential payments and/or deliveries under, derivatives may be affected by various market factors such as, but not limited to, the price, level, yield, volatility and/or creditworthiness of the reference underlying(s) and time remaining until scheduled termination. The 'time value' of derivatives may depend partly upon the length of the period remaining to scheduled termination and expectations concerning the value or other attributes of the relevant reference underlying(s).

Derivatives may employ leverage, which increases the exposure to the reference underlying(s), and can therefore magnify both returns and losses. You should note that derivatives which employ leverage involve a higher level of risk, and that losses under such derivatives (other things being equal) will be higher than those of similar derivatives which are not leveraged.

There may not be an active market for a derivative or the liquidity for a derivative may be poor, particularly in the case of unlisted derivatives. A you may not be able to dispose of or terminate the derivative before its scheduled maturity or termination date, or the payments and/or deliveries under the derivative may be substantially less than the original amount invested.

12.2 Options
Transactions in options carry a high degree of risk. You should familiarise yourself with the type of option which you contemplates trading and the associated risks. You should calculate the extent to which the value of the options must increase for his position to become profitable, taking into account the premium and all transaction costs. There are many different types of options with different characteristics. Primarily however, an option means a right but not an obligation on the part of the buyer to purchase or sell an underlying asset at a specified price on an agreed date(s).

Buying options

The purchaser of options may exercise the options or allow the options to expire. The exercise of an option results either in a cash settlement or in the purchaser acquiring or delivering the underlying interest. If the purchased options expire worthless, you will suffer a total loss of his investment which will consist of the option premium plus transaction costs.

Selling options

Selling ("writing" or "granting") an option generally entails considerably greater risk than purchasing options. Although the premium received by the seller is fixed, the seller may sustain a loss well in excess of that amount. The seller will be liable for additional margin to maintain the position if the market moves unfavourably. The seller will also be exposed to the risk of the purchaser exercising the option and the seller will be obligated to either settle the option in cash or to acquire or deliver the underlying interest. If the option is "covered" by the seller holding a corresponding position in the underlying interest or a futures contract or another option, the risk may be reduced. If the option is not covered, the risk of loss can be unlimited.

Certain options markets operate on a margined basis, under which buyers do not pay the full premium on their option at the time they purchase it. In this situation you may subsequently be called upon to pay margin on the option up to the level of his premium. If you fail to do so as required, your position may be closed or liquidated.

12.3 Futures

Transactions in futures involve the obligation to make, or to take, delivery of the underlying asset of the contract at a future date at a pre-determined price, or in some cases to settle the position with cash. They carry a high degree of risk. The "gearing" or "leverage" often obtainable in trading in futures means that a small deposit or down payment can lead to large losses as well as gains. It also means that a relatively small movement can lead to a proportionately much larger movement in the value of your investment, and this can work against you as well as for you.

12.4 Structured products

Generally structured products are financial instruments whose investment returns are linked to the performance of reference underlying(s). Examples include (but are not limited to) equity-linked notes, interest rate-linked notes and credit-linked notes. Structured products can come in a variety of forms and linked to a wide range of reference underlying(s) and can be complex financial instruments. you should read the offering document, term sheet, and documentation pertaining to the particular structured product carefully and fully understand the nature, terms and risks of such product.

12.5 Security Derivatives (e.g. structured or derivative warrants, contracts for differences) may give you a time-limited or absolute right to acquire or sell one or more types of underlying investments which is normally exercisable against someone other than the Issuer of that investment. They may also give you the rights under a contract for differences ("CFD") which allow for speculation on fluctuations in the value of the underlying property. You should be aware of the credit, liquidity and market risks associated with these instruments. CFDs carry a high degree of risk as they often involve gearing or leverage, so that a relatively small movement in the price of the underlying investment results in a much larger movement, favourable or unfavourable, in the price of the instrument. The price of these instruments can therefore be volatile. These instruments have a limited lifespan, and may be worthless on expiration if the underlying investment does not perform as expected.

13. Debt Securities (such as bonds) and debt-linked investments offer fixed returns over a defined period and are intended to be held to maturity. These instruments carry a significant amount of risk such as credit, currency and liquidity risks. Credit risk arises from default events that may result in the inability of the Issuer to pay interest or principal. Default risk is high when credit rating is of a non-investment grade or non-rated. In a default situation, the buyer may lose both the interest and principal. Currency risk arises from holding debt Securities that are issued in foreign currency, hence exposing the buyer to fluctuations in exchange rate. There is a high chance that if the currency moves adversely, the buyer may lose more than his original interest and principal. Liquidity risk refers to the availability of prices for buying or selling into a market. It is common for most debt Securities to suffer from poor liquidity because they are quoted OTC.

14. Where we re-sell an obligation of an Issuer or third party, you accept that we are not obliged to settle the underlying obligation of such Issuer or third party and the liability of non-payment by the Issuer or third party is to be borne by you and that such a transaction shall be deemed settled upon your payment for the same.

Commissions, Fees and Charges

15. Before you enter into any Transaction, you should obtain a clear explanation of all commissions, fees, interest and charges, including charges for the custody of your Stocks or Structured Notes, and understand that these commission, fees, interests and charges may affect your net profit (if any). You agree that you will be liable for these commission, fees, interests and charges as may be imposed from time to time.

Trading of listed Securities on certain stock exchanges

16. Transactions on markets in other jurisdictions, including markets formally linked to the Singapore Exchange Securities Trading Limited, may expose you to additional risks. Such markets may be subjected to rules that may offer different or diminished investor protection. Before entering into such trades, you should be aware of the rules relevant to the particular transactions. The local regulatory authority may be unable to compel the enforcement of the rules of regulatory authorities or markets in other jurisdictions where your transactions have been effected.

Trading of listed Securities outside the home jurisdiction

17. There are also certain stock exchanges which have been established as markets designed to accommodate companies to which a high investment risk may be attached, such as the Growth Enterprise Market in Hong Kong and Catalyst in Singapore. In particular, companies may list on these stock exchanges with neither a track record of profitability nor any obligation to forecast future profitability. There may be risks arising out of the emerging nature of companies listed on these exchanges and the business sectors or countries in which the companies operate. Further, there is a risk that companies traded on such exchanges may be susceptible to market volatility and there is no assurance that there will be a liquid market in the Securities of such companies.

Currency Risk

18. The potential for profit or loss from transactions on foreign markets or in foreign currency-denominated Securities (traded locally or in other jurisdictions) will be affected by fluctuations in foreign exchange rates. Where you engage in a Transaction involving one currency to hedge an original investment in another currency, or where the Transaction you entered into references two different currencies, fluctuations of the currencies against each other or against the other underlying elements of the Transaction may affect your net profit on the Transaction or your loss. In addition, where your home currency differs from the currency in which payments pursuant to the Transaction are made, foreign currency fluctuations may affect you if you intend to convert profits or losses pursuant to the Transaction to your home currency. Foreign exchange rates may fluctuate significantly and suddenly and are determined by (among other things) the supply and demand for currencies in the international foreign exchange markets, inflation rates in the countries concerned, interest rate differences between the respective countries, currency convertibility and measures (e.g. exchange controls) taken by government and monetary authorities.

Custodial Services

19. There may be risks in custodising Securities, including the risk of loss of all of the Securities. We may appoint foreign custodians/sub-custodians to provide custodial services. If your Securities are custodied in a foreign jurisdiction, you may be exposed to operational and other risks associated with the market infrastructure in that jurisdiction. The concept of beneficial ownership may not exist or be fully developed in the foreign jurisdiction and it is possible that its law will not recognise your beneficial ownership of Securities held by a sub-custodian in that jurisdiction. A possible consequence of this is that in the event that a valid order is served on the sub-custodian seeking to freeze, attach or otherwise restrict assets belonging to us or any other relevant third party, a court in any such market may treat your Securities as assets as belonging to us (or that third party) and open to seizure or arrest, and you may lose your beneficial interest.

Our Role in Services related to Securities

20. Securities received or held by us or our nominee or agent outside Singapore are subject to the applicable laws and regulations of the relevant overseas jurisdiction which may be very different from Singapore law. Consequently, such Securities may not enjoy the same protection as that conferred on client assets received or held in Singapore. Your ability to withdraw the Securities may also be affected if we or our nominee or agent defaults or becomes insolvent.
21. You should note and accept that our relationship with you in relation to your Securities and Securities-related transactions is purely as execution-only broker/dealer or as counterparty to you. In either case, while you are entitled to expect us or our employees or representatives to answer your queries, the obligation in so answering is only to be honest. Such answers should not be assumed to be backed by any prior reasonable due diligence or research or specifically suitable for reliance by you without you first independently confirming that the answer is intended as specific advice to and is suitable for or to your specific financial needs and objectives or you verifying the same with your independent advisers on our specific suitability for your specific financial needs and objectives.

Exchange traded instruments

22. For Transactions involving underlying contracts or instruments which are traded on exchanges, disruption of the normal market operation or conditions of such exchanges and/or the rules of operation of such exchanges (e.g. discretion on the part of the exchange to suspend or limit trading of certain contracts or instruments under certain market conditions) may increase the risk of loss by making it difficult or impossible to close out the Transactions. You should inform yourself of exercise and expiration procedures and your rights and obligations upon exercise or expiry of Transactions. For Transactions in which the underlying contracts or instruments are supported by electronic trading facilities at exchanges (e.g. computer-based component systems for order-routing, execution, matching, registration, or clearing of trades), any temporary disruption or power/system failure of such electronic trading facilities could result in a disruption in the trading activities at the exchange and an unavailability of reference prices for the relevant Transaction. In such circumstances, your order may not be executed according to his Instructions or at all, which may lead to losses. It is likely that such losses will not be recoverable from the relevant exchanges as the rules thereof invariably exempt them from such liabilities.

23. RMB currency risks

RMB is currently not a freely convertible currency. It is subject to foreign exchange control policies of Mainland China. The exchange rate of RMB may fluctuate from time to time. Any devaluation of RMB may adversely affect the value of your investment in RMB denominated assets.

23.1 Repatriation and conversion limitations

The relevant authorities in Mainland China have imposed restrictions on the repatriation of RMB out of Mainland China, which may limit the amount of RMB available outside Mainland China and reduce the liquidity of your investment. In addition, the Mainland China's government policies on repatriation restrictions may be subject to change, which may adversely affect your investment.

Further, conversion of RMB through banks outside Mainland China may be subject to restrictions (including limitations on the amount that can be converted). You may have to allow time for the conversion of RMB from/to another currency of an amount exceeding such limit and is subject to further currency risk in the interim.

23.2 Limited availability of underlying investments denominated in RMB

Where a RMB denominated Investment Product is referenced to underlying investments denominated in RMB, it may not have access to invest directly in Mainland China. The pool of underlying investments denominated in RMB outside Mainland China ("Offshore RMB Instruments") may be limited, which may adversely affect the return and performance of RMB Investment Products. Further, the Offshore RMB Instruments may not be regularly traded and there may not be an active secondary market. The bid and offer spread of the price of Offshore RMB Instruments may be large. Trading in RMB Investment Products may therefore incur significant trading and realisation costs.

23.3 Projected returns which are not guaranteed

Where the offering documents, term sheet or documentation pertaining to the RMB

Investment Products contain a statement of illustrative return of the products which is not guaranteed, you should note that the return is not guaranteed and should pay attention to the assumptions on which the illustrations are based.

23.4 Long term commitment to investment
Some RMB denominated Investment Products involve a long period of investment. If you wish to redeem his investment before the maturity date or during the lock-up period (if applicable), you may incur a significant losses if the proceeds are substantially lower than the amount invested. In addition, heavy penalties or charges may be payable for the early termination or surrender of such products.

23.5 Credit risk of counterparties
Where a RMB denominated Investment Product invests in underlying instruments, such product is exposed to the counterparty risks associated with the issuers of or counterparties to such instruments. In particular, RMB denominated Investment Products may invest in instruments whereby the investment is not supported by any collateral, such RMB products will be fully exposed to the credit/insolvency risk of the relevant counterparties. Further, where RMB products invest in derivative instruments, counterparty risk may arise as the default by the derivative counterparty may adversely affect the performance of the RMB products and result in substantial losses.

23.6 Interest rate risk
Where RMB denominated Investment Products invest in RMB debt instruments, such instruments are susceptible to interest rate fluctuations, which may adversely affect the return and performance of the RMB denominated Investment Products.

23.7 Liquidity risk
It is possible that the RMB denominated Investment Products may suffer losses in liquidating the underlying investments, especially if such investments do not have an active secondary market and their prices have large bid/offer spreads.

23.8 Possibility of not receiving RMB upon redemption
For RMB denominated Investment Products with a significant portion of non-RMB denominated underlying investments, you may not receive the full amount in RMB upon redemption or sale of his investment. Even if a product aims to deliver RMB, it may not be able to pay you in RMB if the product has to sell non-RMB-denominated investments to meet your redemption or sale request or if it encounters conversion restriction when converting the proceeds in non-RMB currencies to RMB. Even if the investments are denominated in RMB, there may not be sufficient RMB to satisfy the redemption or sale requests due to repatriation or other controls on RMB. As a result, you may not receive RMB when you redeem or sell your investments.

Additional Risk Disclosure Statements relating to Structured Notes

24. A Structured Note is a combination of a note or bond with an option embedded inside the note or bond to enhance the yield of the note or bond. Our value is thus partially dependent on the value of the embedded option. Every Structured Note has its own risk profile since the risks of our individual components may be reduced, eliminated or increased. Hence it is particularly important that you are fully aware of the risks involved before acquiring any Structured Note. Such information can be found in the relevant product literature or the contractual terms for the Structured Note.
25. Structured Notes are linked to the performance of an underlying asset, such as a share, bond or note, or other security, asset, mechanism or concept. You should study the terms of Structured Notes carefully and understand the risks involved. Structured Notes may not be capital guaranteed and you may sustain a total or partial loss of your investment. Moreover, the option embedded in Structured Notes could result in to take delivery of the underlying share or other asset at maturity instead of a cash amount. Your returns will be affected by changes in the market price of the underlying asset. You should therefore make your own assessment of the relevant market concerned. You should note that the underlying asset may be traded in different jurisdictions and on different markets. The market on which the Structured Notes may be traded may be different from the market on which the underlying asset is traded. Accordingly, the nature of the risks a holder of Structured Notes is subject to may be very complex.
26. The underlying Securities which are delivered to you may be traded in a foreign Securities market. You should be aware of the implications in relation to this method of settlement; in particular, you may have to open and maintain accounts with a foreign custodian for the purpose of settlement, and pay related costs and expenses in relation to the settlement. By holding the Securities, you may also be subject to the regulatory and disclosure requirements of the jurisdictions in which the Issuer of each of the Securities is incorporated or carries on business and the Securities are traded. There may also be restrictions relating to the trading of the Securities and holding of the Securities and you are strongly advised to seek independent advice on these issues.
27. With a Structured Note, the investor can only assert his/her rights against the Issuer. Hence, in addition to the market risk, particular attention needs to be paid to Issuer risk. You must be aware that, as well as any potential loss you may incur due to a fall in the market value of the underlying asset, a total loss of the investment is possible if the Issuer should default.

28. You should also note that while market makers, who in most cases are the Issuers themselves or their affiliates, may represent that Structured Notes are tradable, liquidity risks cannot be excluded. Structured Notes may not be listed on any Securities exchange. Even if they are, there may not be a liquid secondary market for the Structured Notes. Accordingly you may not be able to find a purchaser for the Structured Notes should you wish to dispose of the Structured Notes and the Structured Notes may not have any market value. You should expect that Structured Notes may have to be held until their maturity.
29. You may be subject to exchange rate risks as Structured Notes may not be denominated in the same currency as the currency in which the underlying asset is traded and settled. As the underlying asset may be traded in different jurisdictions, the currency in which the reference underlying asset for the Structured Notes is traded may differ from the currency in which the same underlying asset is traded in a different jurisdiction. Therefore, your returns on the Structured Notes depend not only on the value of the underlying instrument but on the exchange rate between the two currencies on the maturity of the Structured Notes. If settlement is effected by the delivery of the underlying asset, your returns in the form of proceeds from the sale of the underlying asset may be in a currency different from the currency in which the Structured Notes are denominated.
30. Equity-linked investments are structured products based on underlying listed Securities that offer the potential for high returns but also involve substantial risks including market, liquidity and credit risks. These investments are intended to be held to maturity and are generally for investors who have a certain expectation about the price of the reference security in the near future. The principal investment sum and interest are not guaranteed and investors may suffer a capital loss if the reference security price does not perform as expected, as investors could receive the reference security instead of cash. In providing prices for equity-linked investments, we will enter into the transaction with you as principal, unless otherwise stated. Any transaction entered into by you with us could result in a loss to you and a gain to us.

Additional Risk Disclosure Statements relating to Collective Investment Scheme

31. General
Collective investment schemes invest the funds paid in by the subscribers of units or shares in the collective investment schemes in different types of investments provided for in their offering documents or constitutional documents. You will therefore be exposed to the risks and returns associated with the nature of the financial instruments in which the collective investment scheme invests, including without limitation:

- 31.1 Market risk – the value of an investment will decrease due to moves in market factors, and this will impact on the net asset value of the collective investment scheme.
- 31.2 Risk relating to investment in equity – the equity markets may fluctuate significantly with prices rising and falling sharply, and this will impact on the net asset value of the collective investment scheme.
- 31.3 Risk relating to investment in debt securities – the value of the investments will depend on (among others) market interest rates, the credit quality of the issuer and liquidity considerations. Some collective investment schemes may invest in high yielding debt instruments where the level of income may be relatively high (compared to investment grade debt instruments), however, the risk of depreciation and realisation of capital losses on such instruments will be significantly higher than on lower yielding debt instruments.
- 31.4 Currency risk – since the investments held by a collective investment scheme may be denominated in currencies different from its base currency, the collective investment scheme may be affected adversely by exchange control regulations or changes in the exchange rates between such reference currency and other currencies. Changes in currency exchange rates may influence the value of the units in a collective investment scheme, and also may affect the value of dividends and interests earned by the collective investment scheme, and also may affect the value of dividends and interests earned by the collective investment scheme.
- 31.5 Investment grade risk – some collective investment schemes invest in investment grade debt securities, which, like other types of debt securities, involve credit risk of the debt security issuer and may be subject to ratings downgrades by the rating agencies.
- 31.6 Investment in derivative instruments – some collective investment schemes invest in derivative instruments which can involve additional material risks such as counterparty risks or credit and liquidity risk. Some derivative instruments may employ leverage which can cause greater volatility.
- 31.7 Country concentration – collective investment schemes which invest in one country or limited countries will have greater exposure to market, political, legal, economic and social risks of that country/countries than a scheme which diversifies country risk across a number of countries.

- 31.8 Holdings concentration – collective investment schemes which invest in a relatively small number of investments or may be concentrated in a specific industry sector are subject to higher concentration risk.
- 31.9 Emerging market risk – some collective investment schemes invest in part or in whole via the methods detailed above in emerging markets which may be more volatile and subject to greater political and economic risks.
- 31.10 Liquidity risk
Investments held by a collective investment scheme may need to be sold if insufficient cash is available to finance redemptions of the scheme by investors. If the size of the disposals is sufficiently large, or the market is illiquid, there is a risk that the investments might not be sold or the price at which they are sold may adversely affect the net asset value of the scheme.

32 Exchange traded funds

Exchange traded funds (“ETFs”) are closed ended collective investment schemes, traded as shares on stock exchanges, and typically replicate a stock market index, market sector, commodity or basket of assets.

ETFs can broadly be grouped into two types. Traditional ETFs track, replicate and correspond to the performance of an underlying index. Synthetic ETFs mimic the behaviour of traditional ETFs through the use of derivatives such as swaps and performance-linked notes.

ETFs are subject to tracking error risk, namely the disparity between the performance of the ETF as measured by its net asset value and the performance of the underlying index. Tracking error may arise due to various factors. These include, failure of the ETFs tracking strategy, the impact of fees and expenses, foreign exchange differences between the base currency or trading currency of an ETF and the currencies of the underlying investments, or corporate actions such as rights and bonus issues by the issuers of the ETFs underlying securities.

Trading on an Exchange does not, in and of itself guarantee that a liquid market exists for an ETF. A higher liquidity risk is also involved if an ETF invests in financial derivative instruments that not actively traded in the secondary market and where price transparency is not as easily accessible as physical securities. This may result in a bigger bid and offer spread. Further, an ETF is exposed to the economic, political, currency, legal and other risks of a specific sector or market related to the underlying equity, commodity, asset or index that the ETF is designated to track. Synthetic ETFs typically invest in over-the-counter derivatives issued by counterparties. Such a synthetic ETF may suffer losses potentially equal to the full value of the derivatives issued by the counterparty upon its default. Synthetic ETFs are therefore exposed to both the risks of the securities that constitute the index as well as the credit risk of the counterparty that issues the financial derivative instruments for replicating the performance of the index.

33 Non-traditional funds (hedge funds)

Non-traditional funds (which may take a variety of legal forms such as investment companies or partnerships) differ from traditional investment funds such as equity or fixed income funds in respect of their investment style. A common type of a non-traditional fund is a hedge fund. Some of the common features of, and risks of investing in, a non-traditional fund include the following:

- 33.1 non-traditional funds have variable liquidity and tradeability, and may have limited subscription and redemption rights with lengthy notice periods (e.g. fund issues and redemptions are often allowed only on a monthly, quarterly or annual basis). Fixed holding periods are common, and liquidations may stretch out over a period of years;
- 33.2 the fund often aims to make an absolute return, under varying market conditions;
- 33.3 sometimes, the fund takes on very high levels of risk and may have significant leverage from the investment of borrowed capital;
- 33.4 the fund often uses derivatives, whether for hedging or for investment or speculation;
- 33.5 the fund may be able to carry out short sales;
- 33.6 the fund may not be subject to any restrictions on investment categories, markets or trading methods, and the strategies adopted by the fund may be speculative in nature;
- 33.7 the fund may require a high minimum investment amount; and
- 33.8 many non-traditional funds are located in “offshore” jurisdictions, and are subject to less stringent laws and supervision, which in turn provides relatively weaker investor protection relative to a traditional fund. There is no assurance that an investor’s legal rights will be enforceable. There may be other risks associated with weaker regulation of such funds; for example, the fund may have poor or unsuitable operating systems and checking procedures.

Non-traditional fund investments involve a high degree of risk. Before making any investments, you should seek independent advice about the particular risks involved and carefully study the relevant information memorandum, subscription agreement and other information on the investments.

Additional Risk Disclosures related to equity securities and debt securities

- 34. In buying equity securities, you will become a member of the company and participate fully in its economic risk. You will be entitled to receive any dividend distributed each year (if any) out of the company’s profits made during the reference period. Buying debt securities means that you are, in effect, a lender to the company or the entity that has issued the securities. You are entitled to receive specified periodic interest payments, as well as repayment of the principal at maturity. Both holders of equity and debt securities will be exposed to the specific risks associated with the individual securities (and the financial soundness of their issuers), as well as the systemic risks of the equity and debt securities markets. In the case of shares of smaller companies, there is an additional risk that there may be a greater risk of loss as there may proportionately be a large difference between the buying and selling prices to these shares. If they have to be sold immediately, you may get back much less than the amount that you had originally paid.

APPENDIX B: Risk Disclosure Statement Relating To Structured Deposits

This Risk Disclosure Statement contains risk disclosures specifically relevant to Part C. All capitalized terms not defined herein shall have the meaning ascribed to it in Part C.

Unlike traditional deposits, Structured Deposits have an investment element and returns may vary. You may wish to seek advice from your financial adviser before making a commitment to purchase this product. In the event that you choose not to seek advice from a licensed or an exempt financial adviser, you should carefully consider whether this product is suitable for you .

1. A Structured Deposit is not an insured deposit for the purposes of the Deposit Insurance and Policy Owner's Protection Schemes Act 2012, Chapter 77B.
2. A Structured Deposit is not a conventional deposit nor should it be treated as a substitute for normal savings, term, fixed or time deposits.
3. A Structured Deposit is structured with the objective of returning the Principal Amount only if held to the Maturity Date.
4. A Structured Deposit may be a long-dated investment. You should not invest in a Structured Deposit unless you have sufficient funds or liquidity so as to enable you to keep the Structured Deposit with us until the Maturity Date. If you think it likely that you may need to withdraw the funds prior to the Maturity Date to meet any needs, you should seek advice from a financial adviser before investing in a Structured Deposit.
5. A Structured Deposit is not capable of being cancelled or withdrawn on demand prior to the Maturity Date without our consent, and the Principal Amount is as such not repayable on demand. We are not obliged to accede to your request to cancel or withdraw a Structured Deposit at any time before the Maturity Date. If we, at our discretion, choose to consent to a cancellation or an early withdrawal, it will be subject to such conditions as we may impose, including the condition that the amount of any cost suffered by us by reason of such cancellation or early withdrawal is deducted from the Principal Amount. As the interest rates payable by us in relation to a Structured Deposit are different from current market interest rates, we may choose to hedge our obligations to you through certain underlying derivative¹ instruments. Therefore, the costs and losses suffered by us by reason of cancellation or early withdrawal may include any of bargain, cost of funding or cost incurred as a result of our terminating, liquidating, obtaining or re-establishing any hedge or related trading position. In such a case, the amount you will be paid will depend on the market value of the relevant underlying derivative instruments, which cannot be predetermined.

We reserve the right to charge (and further deduct) a handling fee of up to 1% of such market price which would further reduce the Principal Amount. The cost of terminating, liquidating, obtaining or re-establishing any hedge or related trading position ("Unwinding Cost") may be substantial and may exceed the amount of any interest paid or payable such that the Principal Amount repayable, after deduction of such Unwinding Cost, may be significantly less than the amount invested. Although the Unwinding Cost is not capable of being determined until the actual time of such unwinding, you could potentially lose a significant portion of the amount invested.

6. The interest payment for each Interest Payment Date is only payable if you are holding the Structured Deposit at the relevant Interest Payment Date. A Structured Deposit cancelled or withdrawn (and this is subject to our consent - see paragraph 5 above) prior to such date will not be entitled to such interest payment.
7. When the interest earned on a Structured Deposit on a Valuation Date depends on the performance of the Shares during that period, it is important that the Shares are able to be properly valued. Accordingly, when something happens so as to prevent such proper valuation (for example a suspension or disruption of the market where a Share is listed), the Valuation Date may be postponed to a subsequent day. Further, if certain events occur which have a diluting effect or concentrative effect on the theoretical value of a Share (such as a sub-division, consolidation or reclassification of the relevant Share) or any Share is affected by a Merger Event or Tender Offer (which terms are defined in Part C herein) or such other disruptive event, we shall be entitled to make such adjustments to the terms of the Structured Deposit as we deem appropriate to account for the relevant event.
8. There is no service charge for placing a Structured Deposit, as all related charges incurred by us are already inherently contained in and subsumed into the calculation of the interest rate and other variables.

¹ A "derivative" is a security, such as an option, swap or futures contract, whose value depends on the performance of an underlying security or asset (in this case the Shares). Derivatives are complicated financial instruments and if you require further information in relation to such instruments you are strongly advised to contact your financial and/or legal advisers.

APPENDIX C: Risk Disclosure Statement Relating To Currency-Linked Structured Investments

This Risk Disclosure Statement contains risk disclosures specifically relevant to Part C2. All capitalized terms not defined herein shall have the meaning ascribed to it in Part C2.

In addition to the risks disclosed here, please make sure that you read carefully and understand the “Know Your Investment Risk” document or any other relevant risk disclosure document which is appropriate for the Structured Investment you are investing in.

You should read this Risk Disclosure Statement together with Appendix G (General Risk Disclosure Statement Relating to Structured Investments).

1. Currency-Linked Structured Investments (“FXLSIs”) carry risks not normally associated with ordinary bank deposits and are generally not a suitable substitute for ordinary savings or time or term or fixed deposits. A FXLSI is not an insured deposit for the purposes of the Deposit Insurance and Policy Owner’s Protection Schemes Act 2012, Chapter 77B. Your principal is at risk.
2. The currency exchange rate(s) to which a FXLSI is linked will affect the nature and value of the return on the FXLSI. The performance of currency exchange rates are dependent upon the supply and demand for currencies in the international foreign exchange markets, which are subject to economic and political factors in one or more jurisdictions, including, among other things, inflation rates in the countries concerned, interest rate differences between the respective countries, economic forecasts, international political factors, currency convertibility and safety of making financial investments in the currency concerned, speculation and measures taken by governments and central banks.
3. The return on FXLSIs will be dependent to some extent on movements on some specified currency exchange rate. The effect of normal market forces may at times be countered by intervention by central banks and other bodies. At times, exchange rates, and prices linked to such rates, may rise or fall rapidly.
4. Exchange controls or other monetary measures may be imposed by a government, sometimes with little or no warning. Such measures include, among other things, imposition of regulatory controls or taxes, issuance of a new currency to replace an existing currency, alteration of the exchange rate or exchange characteristics by devaluation or revaluation of a currency or imposition of exchange controls with respect to the exchange or transfer of a specified currency that would affect foreign exchange rates and the availability of a specified currency. Such measures may have a significant effect on the convertibility or transferability of a currency and may have unexpected consequences for a FXLSI and may affect the return of your investment. Exchange controls may also be applicable to the currencies your investment is linked to. You may incur a loss on your principal sum in comparison with the base amount initially invested.

5. Where a FXLSI is described as repayable in either the original currency of the Currency Linked Account or in another currency; the principal amount of the Currency Linked Account itself may be subject to variation by reference to the relevant currency exchange rate or may be repaid in a different currency. The total return on this type of Currency Linked Account may be negative (when measured in terms of the original currency of the Currency Linked Account), and depending on the particular terms of a FXLSI, the value of the principal repayable on maturity may be significantly less than the value of the original principal amount in the event of an adverse movement in the relevant exchange rate.
6. FXLSIs cannot generally be cancelled or withdrawn prior to the agreed maturity date without our consent. If we do consent to an early withdrawal, it will be a condition of such consent that the amount of any cost or loss suffered by us by reason of early withdrawal is the Currency linked Account, and may result in a lower rate of return than might be expected, or even a negative rate of return.
7. The Standard Chartered Group is a foreign exchange dealer and there may be conflicts of interest between the Standard Chartered Group and you as the customer.
You should note that the Standard Chartered Group is a regular participant in the foreign exchange market and in the ordinary course of its business may effect transactions for its own accounts or for the accounts of its customers and hold long and short positions in currencies and related derivatives, including in the currency or currencies that are linked to a FXLSI. Such transactions may affect the relevant foreign exchange rates, the liquidity and/or value of the FXLSI and could be adverse to your interests. The Standard Chartered Group has no duty to enter into such transactions in a manner which is favourable to you.
8. Currencies of emerging market jurisdictions pose particular risks.
If you are investing in a FXLSI linked to one or more emerging market currencies, you should note that emerging market currencies may experience greater volatility and less certainty as to the future rate of exchange as against other currencies.

Additional Risk Disclosures relating to Premium Currency Investments and Enhanced Premium Currency Investments

9. Premium Currency Investments/Enhanced Premium Currency Investments are forms of structured investments in which we have the right to elect to repay your proceeds at maturity either in the original currency of the Investment or in the alternate currency converted at the Target Conversion Rate, regardless of whether you wish to be repaid in the original currency at that time.
10. The interest rate on a Premium Currency Investment/Enhanced Premium Currency Investment is generally higher than that which would be payable on an ordinary time deposit in the original currency. In return for this enhanced yield you agree to accept exchange rate risk.
11. If the currency you have placed is a foreign currency, you run the exchange rate risk associated with ordinary foreign currency deposit, namely that the value of the currency weakens over the term of the investment. In addition, if the alternate currency weakens over the term of the investment so that the spot exchange rate is beyond the agreed conversion rate, we will choose to repay you in the alternate currency amount. This means that the value of the proceeds, measured in terms of the original currency placed, may be reduced. Such reduction could be significant.
12. It is possible that, after converting the alternate currency amount back into the original currency, the total amount, including both principal and interest, is less than the original amount invested.
13. If you need or intend to convert the proceeds of the investment after maturity into a third currency, you will be running an additional exchange rate risk.
14. If your Premium Currency Investment/Enhanced Premium Currency Investment is repaid in the alternate currency upon maturity, placing these proceeds in subsequent Premium Currency Investments/Enhanced Premium Currency Investments will continue to expose you to exchange rate risks. The exchange rate risks will be magnified with each additional Premium Currency Investment/Enhanced Premium Currency Investment placement.
15. You should consider carefully whether a Premium Currency Investment/Enhanced Premium Currency Investment is a suitable investment in light of your financial circumstances and investment objectives and in light of your understanding of the foreign exchange markets. You should also consider carefully how much of your available financial resources you should invest in a Premium Currency Investment/Enhanced Premium Currency Investment.
16. You may also wish to seek advice from a licensed or an exempt financial adviser before making a commitment to purchase this product. In the event that you choose not to seek advice from a licensed or an exempt financial adviser, you should carefully lower rate of return than might be expected, or even a negative rate of return.

17. If the preservation of the value of your principal is a priority for you, a Premium Currency Investment or Enhanced Premium Currency Investment may not be a suitable investment.

Additional Risk Disclosures relating to Asian Currency Investments

18. Asian currency investments are described as repayable only in the original currency of the account. The principal amount of the account itself may be subject to variation by reference to the relevant currency exchange rate. The total return on this type of account may be negative (when measured in terms of the original currency of the account), and, depending on the particular terms of a Asian currency investment, the value of the principal repayable on maturity may be significantly less than the value of the original principal amount in the event of an adverse movement in the relevant exchange rate.
19. Asian currency investments are a form of structured investments which are repayable only in the original currency of the account. The principal amount of the account itself may be subject to variation by reference to the relevant currency exchange rate.

APPENDIX D: Risk Disclosure Statement Relating To Commodity-Linked Structured Investments & Accounts

This Risk Disclosure Statement contains risk disclosures specifically relevant to Part C3. All capitalized terms not defined herein shall have the meaning ascribed to it in Part C3.

In addition to the risks disclosed here, please make sure that you read carefully and understand the “Know Your Investment Risk” document or any other relevant risk disclosure document which is appropriate for the Structured Investment you are investing in.

You should read this Risk Disclosure Statement together with Appendix G (General Risk Disclosure Statement Relating To Structured Investments).

1. Commodity Linked Structured Investments (“CLSI”) carry risks not normally associated with ordinary bank deposits and are generally not a suitable substitute for ordinary savings or time deposits. A CLSI is not an insured deposit for the purposes of the Deposit Insurance and Policy Owner’s Protection Schemes Act 2012, Chapter 77B. Your principal is at risk.
2. If the preservation of the value of principal is a priority for you, a CLSI may not be a suitable investment. A CLSI is a form of structured investment in which we have the right (or Option) to repay or redeliver the Principal (together with the applicable Interest) at maturity either (a) in the same Base Instrument used to place such CLSI; or (b) in the equivalent amount of Alternate Instrument, calculated based on the Target Conversion Rate pre-agreed at the outset. Therefore, by making a placement of the Base Instrument in a CLSI, you are giving us the right to repay/redeliver to you at a future date in an Alternate Instrument that is different from the original Base Instrument in which your initial investment was made, regardless of whether you wish to be repaid in this Alternate Instrument at that time.
3. Commodity prices may be more volatile than other asset classes, making investments in CLSIs riskier than other Structured Investments.
Trading in commodities may be speculative and may be extremely volatile. Commodity prices are affected by a variety of factors that are unpredictable including, for example, changes in supply and demand relationships, weather patterns and extreme weather conditions, governmental programmes and policies, national and international political, military, terrorist and economic events, fiscal, monetary and exchange control programmes, changes in interest and foreign exchange rates and changes and suspensions or disruptions of market trading activities in commodities and related contracts.
4. CLSIs may reference physical commodities or commodity contracts, and certain commodity contracts may be traded on unregulated or “under-regulated” exchanges.

Commodities comprise both (i) physical commodities, which need to be stored and transported, and which are generally traded at a spot price, and (ii) commodity contracts, which are agreements either to (a) buy or sell a set amount of an underlying physical commodity at a predetermined price and delivery period (which may be referred to as a delivery month), or to (b) make and receive a cash payment based on changes in the price of the underlying physical commodity.

Commodity contracts (such as futures or options) may be traded on regulated specialised futures and options exchanges. Commodity contracts may also be traded directly between market participants off-exchange or “over-the-counter” on trading facilities that are subject to lesser degrees of regulation or, in some cases, no substantive regulation. Accordingly, trading in such “over-the-counter” contracts may not be subject to the same provisions as, and the protections afforded to, contracts traded on regulated specialised futures exchanges, and there may therefore be additional risks related to the liquidity and price histories of the relevant contracts.

5. CLSIs

which are linked to commodity futures contracts will carry certain unique risks and may provide a different return than CLSI linked to the relevant physical commodity.

The price of a futures contract on a commodity may be at a premium or at a discount to the spot price of the underlying commodity. In addition, and depending on the commodity, there can be significant differences in the liquidity of the spot and the futures markets. Accordingly, CLSI which are linked to commodity futures contracts may provide a different return than CLSI linked to the relevant physical commodity.

Investments in futures contracts involve certain other risks, including potential illiquidity. A holder of a futures position may find that such position becomes illiquid because certain commodity exchanges limit fluctuations in such futures contract prices pursuant to daily limits on price. Once the price of a particular futures contract has increased or decreased by an amount equal to the daily limit, positions in the contract can neither be taken nor liquidated unless holders are willing to effect trades at or within the limit. This could prevent a holder from promptly liquidating unfavourable positions and subject it to substantial losses. Futures contract prices in various commodities occasionally have exceeded the daily limit for several consecutive days with little or no trading. Any such losses in such circumstances could have a negative adverse effect on the return of any CLSI linked to the affected futures contract.

A customer investing in CLSI linked to the price of commodity futures contracts do not participate in the interest yields that may be available in connection with the collateralisation of a direct investment in commodity futures contracts.

6. Additional risks in relation to the “rolling” of commodity futures contracts (including commodity futures contracts which are components of a commodity index)
In the case of CLSI linked to a commodity contract, the referenced commodity contract will simply be changed without liquidating or entering into any positions in the commodity contracts. Accordingly, the effects of “rolling” on a direct investment in commodity futures contracts or a commodity index do not apply directly on the Reference Asset and the Commodity-Linked Structured Investments. Thus, Customers will not participate directly in possible effects of “rolling”. However, other market participants in commodity futures contracts or commodity index sponsors may act in accordance with the mechanism of “rolling” and such behaviour may have an indirect adverse impact on the value of the Reference Asset of the CLSI.
7. A CLSI does not offer any protection of your Principal. If we exercise our Option to repay or redeliver your Principal (together with the applicable Interest) at maturity in the equivalent amount of Alternate Instrument at the Target Conversion Rate, you may receive significantly less than your Principal if the prevailing spot prices of the Alternative Instrument at maturity have fallen below the Target Conversion Rate and you choose to convert the Alternative Instrument received from us into the Base Instrument at that point.
8. Part or all of the Interest payable by us on the Principal of any CLSI represents the premium payable by us in consideration of the Option granted by you to us under that CLSI.
9. The return on CLSIs will be dependent on, and affected by, movements on the prices of the underlying Commodity and the performance of any other financial instruments, rates, prices and indices which may be referenced for the purposes of determining if the Options under the CLSIs are exercisable on maturity, each of which may be affected by a wide range of factors, including national and international financial and economic conditions and political and natural events. The effect of normal market forces may at times be countered by intervention by central banks and other bodies. At times, Commodity prices, and rates linked to such prices, may rise or fall rapidly. You may incur on the principal in comparison with the base amount originally invested.
10. Controls or other measures which limit or prohibit dealings in currencies and commodities may be imposed by a government, sometimes with little or no warning. Such controls and measures may have a significant effect on the availability or deliverability of the Settlement Currency, the relevant Commodity and/or our prices and may have unexpected consequences for a CLSI to which such Commodity or currency is either the Base Instrument, Alternate Instrument or otherwise used or referenced in the CLSI.
11. CLSIs cannot be cancelled or withdrawn prior to maturity without our consent. If we do consent to a premature withdrawal, it will be a condition of such consent that the amount of any cost suffered by us by reason of the premature withdrawal is deducted from the Principal of such CLSIs and you will also not receive any interest for such CLSIs. Such costs may include the cost of unwinding a hedging position taken by us in respect of such CLSIs, and may result in a lower rate of return than might be expected, or even a negative rate of return.
12. If Commodity Account(s) apply to a CLSI, you should note that physical settlement under the Commodity-Linked Structured Investment may occur by way of a transfer of the specified asset(s) to the Commodity Account(s). Any specified asset(s) delivered in such manner will be reflected in the Commodity Account(s) as a credit balance of such specified asset(s).
13. The only method for you may withdraw such balance of specified asset(s) is to convert such balance with the Bank at the Spot Conversion Rate which is determined by the Calculation in its sole discretion. You cannot obtain physical delivery of the specified asset(s) in any form and is not entitled to any rights, title or interest to such specified asset(s). You cannot transfer or convert such balance of the specified asset(s) to any party other than the Bank. You may receive less than what the specified asset(s) reflected in the balance subject to conversion are worth in the open market if the Spot Conversion Rate is lower than the market price of such specified asset(s).
14. If you sell to us any quantity of a Commodity in your Commodity Account, and if the Spot Conversion Price or Forward Conversion Price of that Commodity at the time of sale is less than the Target Conversion Rate or other relevant price at which that Commodity was previously acquired, you may receive a lower return than your initial investment.
15. All funds payable to or by you in respect of a Commodity Account or a CLSI must be paid only in the Settlement Currency. We are entitled to refuse to accept payment from, or make payment to, you in any currency other than the Settlement Currency. If you request for any currency conversion for such payment in a currency other than the Settlement Currency, you accept that you will be bearing all exchange rate risks for such currency conversion.
16. If your CLSI is repaid in the Alternate Instrument upon maturity, placing these proceeds in subsequent CLSIs will continue to expose you to exchange rate and Commodity price risks. Such risks may be magnified with each additional subsequent CLSI placement.

APPENDIX E: Risk Disclosure Statement Relating To Index-Linked Structured Investments

This Risk Disclosure Statement contains risk disclosures specifically relevant to Part C4. All capitalized terms not defined herein shall have the meaning ascribed to it in Part C4.

In addition to the risks disclosed here, please make sure that you read carefully and understand the “Know Your Investment Risk” document or any other relevant risk disclosure document which is appropriate for the Structured Investment you are investing in.

You should read this Risk Disclosure Statement together with Appendix G (General Risk Disclosure Statement Relating to Structured Investments).

1. Index-Linked Structured Investments in general

1.1 Indices to which the INDEXSLIs are linked may comprise a synthetic portfolio of shares, commodity contracts or other components, and as such, the performance of an index is dependent upon the factors relating to the relevant components that comprise such index, which may include interest and price levels on the capital markets, currency developments, economic or political factors and (in the case of shares) company-specific factors such as earnings position, market position, risk situation, shareholder structure and distribution policy.

1.2 INDEXSLIs are not in any way sponsored, endorsed, sold or promoted by the relevant index sponsor(s) and the index sponsor(s) make no warranty or representation whatsoever, express or implied, either as to the results to be obtained from the use of the relevant index or indices and/or the figure(s) at which the relevant index or indices stand at any particular time on any particular day or otherwise. The index sponsor(s) shall not be liable (whether in negligence or otherwise) to any person for any error in the relevant index or indices and the index sponsor(s) shall not be under any obligation to advise any person of an error therein.

1.3 An index may be a property index referencing certain property price data which will be subject to market price fluctuations. A property index may include valuations only and not actual transactions and the property data sources used to compile the index may be subject to change, which may adversely affect the return on the INDEXSLI. Or, an index could be a proprietary index referencing an index sponsor's proprietary strategic algorithm or quantitative strategy. A proprietary index may not perform as expected or predicted by underlying strategic algorithm or quantitative strategy. The index sponsor of such an index is not responsible or liable for the performance of the underlying strategic algorithm or quantitative strategy. Further, the historical results and/or backtesting data corresponding to a proprietary index do not guarantee, and are not reliable indicators of, future performance of the proprietary index.

1.4 The rules of an index or indices may be complex and may also contain provisions that may in certain circumstances adversely affect your investment in an INDEXSLI. The applicable Confirmation for the INDEXSLI will contain information relating to the index or indices (which may include the rules for and additional risk considerations in relation to such index or indices).

2. Adjustment to index or indices

If an index adjustment event (as described in the terms and conditions of the relevant INDEXSLI) occurs, the Calculation Agent or the Bank may make such adjustments as it determines appropriate (in its sole discretion) to the terms of the INDEXSLIs or terminate the INDEXSLIs. Such action may have an adverse effect on the amount(s) payable and/or specified asset(s) deliverable under the affected Index-Linked Structured Investments.

3. Returns on the INDEXSLIs do not reflect direct investment or ownership rights in underlying shares or other components comprising the index or indices

The return on an INDEXSLI may not reflect the return you would realise if the you actually owned the components of the relevant index or indices. For example, if the components of the index or indices are shares, you will not receive any dividends paid on those shares and will not participate in the return on those dividends unless the relevant index or indices take(s) such dividends into account for purposes of calculating the relevant level. Similarly, you will not have any voting rights in the underlying shares or any other components of the relevant index or indices. Accordingly, you may realise a lower return upon termination of such INDEXSLI than you would have realised if you had invested in the components of the relevant index or indices directly.

4. A change in the composition or discontinuance of an index could adversely affect the value of INDEXSLIs

In some cases, the index sponsor can add, delete or substitute the components of an index or make other methodological changes that could change the level of one or more components. The changing of components of any index may affect the level of such index as a newly added component may perform significantly worse or better than the component it replaces, which in turn may affect the performance of an INDEXSLI. The index sponsor may also alter, discontinue or suspend calculation or dissemination of such index. The index sponsor will have no involvement in the offer of any INDEXSLI and will have no obligation to any customer investing in any INDEXSLI. The index sponsor may take any actions in respect of an index without regard to your interests, and any of these actions could adversely affect the performance of the INDEXSLIs.

APPENDIX F: Risk Disclosure Statement Relating To Equity-Linked Structured Investments

This Risk Disclosure Statement contains risk disclosures specifically relevant to Part C5. All capitalized terms not defined herein shall have the meaning ascribed to it in Part C5.

In addition to the risks disclosed here, please make sure that you read carefully and understand the “Know Your Investment Risk” document or any other relevant risk disclosure document which is appropriate for the Structured Investment you are investing in.

You should read this Risk Disclosure Statement together with Appendix G (General Risk Disclosure Statement Relating to Structured Investments).

1. Nature of Structured Investment: An ELSI is a Structured Investment. A Structured Investment is a combination of a deposit with an option embedded inside the deposit to enhance the yield of the investment. Its value is thus partially dependent on the value of the embedded option. Every Structured Investment has its own risk profile since the risks of its individual components may be reduced, eliminated or increased. Hence it is particularly important that you are fully aware of the risks involved before acquiring any Structured Investment. Such information can be found in the relevant product literature or the contractual terms for the Structured Investment. Structured Investments carry risks not normally associated with ordinary bank deposits and are generally not a suitable substitute for ordinary savings or time or term or fixed deposits. An ELSI is not an insured deposit for the purposes of the Deposit Insurance and Policy Owner’s Protection Schemes Act 2012, Chapter 77B. Your principal is at risk and you may sustain a total or partial of the original amount invested at maturity.

The amount(s) payable and/or specified asset(s) deliverable under an ELSI may depend upon the performance of equity securities, exchange traded funds (“ETF”) and exchange traded notes (“ETN”) to which the ELSI are linked. The performance of such equity securities is dependent upon, among other things, macroeconomic factors, such as interest and price levels of capital markets, currency developments, economic and political factors and company specific factors such as earnings position, market position, risk situation, shareholder structure and distribution policy.

2. Risks arising from underlying asset: ELSI are linked to the performance of an underlying asset, such as a share, bond or note, or other security. You should study the terms of the ELSI carefully and understand the risks involved. The option embedded in the Structured Investment could result in you being required to take delivery of the underlying share or other asset at maturity instead of a cash amount. Your return on the investment will be affected by changes in the market price of the underlying asset. In the case of an ELSI, the prevailing market value of the Shares or Basket of Shares which are delivered may be significantly less than the value invested. You should therefore make your own assessment of the relevant market concerned. You should note that the underlying asset may be traded in different jurisdictions and on different markets. The market on which the Investment may be traded may be different from the market on which the underlying asset is traded. Accordingly, the nature of the risks a holder of Structured Investment is subject to may be very complex.

2.1 Risks relating to ETFs as underlying

ETFs are closed ended collective investment schemes, traded as shares on stock exchanges, and typically replicate a stock market index, market sector, commodity or basket of assets. ETFs can broadly be grouped into two types. Traditional ETFs track, replicate and correspond to the performance of an underlying index. Synthetic ETFs mimic the behaviour of traditional ETFs through the use of derivatives such as swaps and performance-linked notes.

ETFs are subject to tracking error risk, namely the disparity between the performance of the ETF as measured by its net asset value and the performance of the underlying index. Tracking error may arise due to various factors. These include, failure of the ETFs tracking strategy, the impact of fees and expenses, foreign exchange differences between the base currency or trading currency of an ETF and the currencies of the underlying investments, or corporate actions such as rights and bonus issues by the issuers of the ETFs underlying securities.

Trading on an exchange does not, in and of itself guarantee that a liquid market exists for an ETF. A higher liquidity risk is also involved if an ETF invests in financial derivative instruments that not actively traded in the secondary market and where price transparency is not as easily accessible as physical securities. This may result in a bigger bid and offer spread. Further, an ETF is exposed to the economic, political, currency, legal and other risks of a specific sector or market related to the underlying equity, commodity, asset or index that the ETF is designated to track. Synthetic ETFs typically invest in over-the-counter derivatives issued by counterparties. Such a synthetic ETF may suffer losses potentially equal to the full value of the derivatives issued by the counterparty upon its default. Synthetic ETFs are therefore exposed to both the risks of the securities that constitute the index as well as the credit risk of the counterparty that issues the financial derivative instruments for replicating the performance of the index.

2.2 Risks relating to ETNs as underlying

An Equity-Linked Structured Investment may be linked to ETNs that are structured financial instruments such as asset-backed securities, mortgage-backed securities, collateralized loan obligation securities, credit-linked securities and other structured securities. The return on such ETNs may be linked to and/or backed by any items and/or assets. Such ETNs may be subject to a high degree of complex risks and may lose all or substantially all of their value upon the occurrence of certain event(s). The performance of ETNs may be affected by numerous factors, including, without limitation, supply and demand relationships, general asset and/or market conditions, interest rates, currency exchange rates, the financial situation of each relevant obligor and each reference entity, changes in political and economic conditions generally and/or changes in specific industry segments, changes in governmental rules, regulations and fiscal policies, financial mismanagement, war or acts of violence or force majeure.

Amounts payable under certain ETNs may depend upon the performance of one or more underlying or referenced items and/or assets and/or the occurrence or non-occurrence of events which may include, without limitation, credit events and other risk related events.

3. Valuation Risk As the return earned on a Structured Investment is on the performance of the underlying asset during the investment period and/or on the Valuation Date, it is important that the underlying assets are capable of being properly valued. Accordingly, when proper valuation of the underlying asset is prevented (for instance where there is a suspension or disruption of the market or markets where the underlying asset is listed), the Valuation Date may be postponed to a subsequent day. Further, if certain events occur which have a diluting effect or concentrative effect on the theoretical value of an underlying asset (such as a sub-division, consolidation or reclassification of the relevant underlying asset), or any underlying asset is affected by a Merger Event or Tender Offer (as defined in Part C5), or such other disruptive event, we may be entitled to make adjustments to the terms of the Structured Investment as we deem appropriate to account for the relevant event. This may affect your returns under the Structured Investment.

4. Risks arising from foreign asset: The underlying Securities which are delivered to you may be traded in a foreign Securities market. You should be aware of the implications in relation to this method of settlement. In particular, you may have to open and maintain accounts with a foreign custodian for the purpose of settlement, and pay related costs and expenses in relation to the settlement. By holding the Securities, you may also be subject to the regulatory and disclosure requirements of the jurisdictions in which the Issuer of each of the Securities is incorporated or carries on business and the Securities are traded. There may also be restrictions relating to the trading of the Securities and holding of the Securities and you are strongly advised to seek independent advice on these issues.

APPENDIX G: General Risk Disclosure Statement Relating To Structured Investments

AN INVESTMENT IN A STRUCTURED INVESTMENT MAY INVOLVE SUBSTANTIAL RISKS AND WILL ONLY BE SUITABLE FOR CUSTOMERS WHO HAVE THE KNOWLEDGE AND EXPERIENCE IN FINANCIAL AND BUSINESS MATTERS NECESSARY TO ENABLE THEM TO EVALUATE THE RISKS AND THE MERITS OF INVESTMENTS IN STRUCTURED INVESTMENTS. PRIOR TO MAKING AN INVESTMENT DECISION, YOU SHOULD CONSIDER CAREFULLY, IN LIGHT OF YOUR OWN FINANCIAL CIRCUMSTANCES AND INVESTMENT OBJECTIVES, ALL THE INFORMATION SET FORTH IN THE AGREEMENT, INCLUDING, WHERE RELEVANT THE APPLICABLE CONFIRMATION AND, IN PARTICULAR, THE CONSIDERATIONS SET FORTH BELOW. THE AGREEMENT AND, WHERE RELEVANT, THE APPLICABLE CONFIRMATION CANNOT AND DOES NOT DISCLOSE ALL POSSIBLE CONSIDERATIONS RELATING TO THE STRUCTURED INVESTMENTS. YOU SHOULD MAKE SUCH ENQUIRIES AND SEEK INDEPENDENT PROFESSIONAL ADVICE AS YOU DEEM NECESSARY WITHOUT RELYING ON US.

AN INVESTMENT IN A STRUCTURED INVESTMENT LINKED TO ONE OR MORE REFERENCE ASSETS MAY ENTAIL SIGNIFICANT RISKS, INCLUDING BUT NOT LIMITED TO THE RISKS SET OUT BELOW. IF WE ARE REQUIRED TO PAY AN AMOUNT ON TERMINATION OF A STRUCTURED INVESTMENT, SUCH AMOUNT MAY BE SUBSTANTIALLY LESS THAN THE INITIAL AMOUNTS INVESTED, AND MAY IN CERTAIN CIRCUMSTANCES BE ZERO. WHERE WE ARE REQUIRED TO DELIVER ONE OR MORE SPECIFIED ASSET(S) UPON TERMINATION OF A STRUCTURED INVESTMENT, THE VALUE OF SUCH SPECIFIED ASSET(S) MAY BE SUBSTANTIALLY LESS THAN THE INITIAL AMOUNTS INVESTED, AND MAY IN CERTAIN CIRCUMSTANCES BE ZERO.

1. Factors relating to our ability to fulfill obligations under Structured Investments entered with us

1.1 Structured Investments are unsecured obligations.

Where we are the counterparty to the Structured Investment, structured investments are bilateral contracts entered into between you and us and constitute direct, unconditional, unsubordinated and unsecured obligations of us and rank (save for certain obligations required to be preferred by law) equally with all other unsecured obligations (other than subordinated obligations, if any) of us, from time to time outstanding. We may incur a large amount of obligations, including the Structured Investments and, at any given time, the obligations outstanding may be substantial.

1.2 Payments may not occur at all or be limited or substantially delayed in case of our bankruptcy.

If a court institutes bankruptcy, insolvency or composition proceedings to avert bankruptcy or similar proceedings against our assets, or we apply for the institution of such proceedings concerning our assets, payments of coupon, principal or other amounts on or in connection with the Structured Investments and/or delivery of any specified asset(s) in connection with the Structured Investments may not occur at all or may be limited and/or may be substantially delayed.

- 1.3 Where any Structured Investment is entered between you and us, the value of the Structured Investment is expected to be affected, in part by the creditworthiness and credit ratings of the Standard Chartered Group. The value of the Structured Investments is expected to be affected, in part, by investors' and others' (including, but not limited to, credit rating agencies) general appraisal of the creditworthiness of the Standard Chartered Group. Such perceptions may be influenced by the ratings accorded to outstanding securities of the Standard Chartered Group by well-recognised rating agencies, such as Moody's Investors Service Inc., Standard & Poor's, a division of The McGraw-Hill Companies, Inc., or other internationally recognised credit rating agencies. A reduction in the rating, if any, accorded to outstanding securities of the Standard Chartered Group, by one of these rating agencies could result in a reduction in the value of the Structured Investments.

2 Factors which are material for the purposes of assessing the risks associated with the Structured Investments.

2.1 Structured Investments may not be suitable for all investors.

You must determine the suitability of an investment in a Structured Investment in light of your own circumstances. Some Structured Investments are complex financial instruments. Sophisticated institutional investors generally do not purchase complex financial instruments as stand-alone investments but as a way to reduce risk or enhance yield with an understood, measured, appropriate addition of risk to their overall portfolios. You should not invest in any Structured Investment which is a complex financial instrument unless you have the expertise (either alone or with your own financial and other advisers) to evaluate how the Structured Investment will perform under changing conditions, the resulting effects on the value of the Structured Investment and the impact this investment will have on your overall investment holdings.

- 2.2 Investors may lose the entire value of their investment in a Structured Investment as a result of the occurrence of any one or more events, including, among others, the following events:

(a) Where the counterparty is subject to insolvency proceedings or some other event impairing its ability to meet its obligations under the Structured Investments;

- (b) the relevant Reference Asset(s) perform in such a manner that pursuant to the terms and conditions of the Structured Investment, the Final Termination Amount, Early Termination Amount or other relevant amount(s) payable or the specified asset(s) deliverable upon termination is less than or is worth less than the initial amount invested; and
- (c) certain adjustments in accordance with the terms and conditions of the Structured Investment that may result in the Final Termination Amount, Early Termination Amount or other relevant amount(s) payable or the specified asset(s) deliverable upon termination being reduced to or being valued at an amount less than the initial amount invested.

2.3 Country risks

By seeking exposure to the Reference Asset(s) through an investment in the Structured Investments, you may also be exposed to the economic and political risks of the country or countries in which the Reference Asset is located or domiciled. Whilst the existing market condition and regulatory framework may be conducive for an investment linked to such a country or countries, such investments may be sensitive to any significant (i) changes in market conditions, political, social or economic policy, or (ii) changes in laws and regulations in such a country or countries. No assurance is given as to that country's or countries' government's future control of currency conversion, free transfer of monies and securities, and movements in exchange rates may or may not affect the performance of, or returns under, the Structured Investments.

2.4 Market risks

The value of a Structured Investment is affected by various market factors such as (but not limited to) the price, level, yield, volatility and/or creditworthiness of the Reference Asset(s), the level of interest rates and time remaining until scheduled termination. Where the Reference Asset(s) are listed, traded or otherwise negotiable securities, the value of a Structured Investment may also be affected by the applicable dividend rate and/or the financial results and prospects of the issuer(s) of the Reference Asset(s). The amount payable and/or deliverable in respect of a Structured Investment at any time prior to scheduled termination may be less than or may be worth less than the value of such Structured Investment at that time. The difference may reflect, among other things, a "time value" for the Structured Investment. The "time value" of the Structured Investment will depend partly upon the length of the period remaining to scheduled termination and expectations concerning the value of the relevant Reference Asset(s).

Structured Investments are volatile instruments and may be subject to considerable fluctuations in value and other inherent risks associated with financial markets relevant to the Reference Asset(s). The value of a Structured Investment may fall as rapidly as it may rise. Past performance is neither a guarantee nor a reliable indicator of future performance.

2.5 Initial amount of investment may be more than the value of a Structured Investment.

The initial amount of investment in respect of any Structured Investment will likely be more than the value of the Structured Investment as at the Start Date and during the term of the Structured Investment. In particular, the initial amount of investment will take into account amounts with respect to fees and/or costs relating to the offer of the Structured Investment and amounts relating to the hedging of our obligations under the Structured Investment.

2.6 It may not be possible to use a Structured Investment as a perfect hedge against the market risk associated with a specific investment or asset. If you intend to invest in a Structured Investment to hedge against the market risk associated with a specific investment or asset, you should recognise the complexities of utilising a Structured Investment in this manner. For example, there is no assurance that the value of the Structured Investment will match movements in the value of the specific investment or asset.

2.7 Significant risks in investing in Structured Investments which reference one or more emerging market Reference Asset(s).

Where the terms and conditions of a Structured Investment reference one or more emerging market Reference Asset(s), investors in such Structured Investment should be aware that the political and economic situation in countries with emerging economies or stock markets may be undergoing significant evolution and rapid development, and such countries may lack the social, political and economic stability characteristics of more developed countries, including, among other things, a significant risk of currency value fluctuation. Such instability may result from, among other things, authoritarian government or military involvement in political and economic decision making; changes or attempted changes in governments through extra-constitutional means; popular unrest associated with demands for improved political, economic or social conditions; internal insurgencies; hostile relations with neighbouring countries; and ethnic, religious or racial conflict. Certain emerging market countries may have failed in the past to recognise private property rights and may have at times nationalised or expropriated the assets of private companies. In addition, unanticipated political or social developments may affect the values of a Reference Asset connected to such countries. The small size and inexperience of the securities markets in certain countries and the limited volume of trading in securities may make the Reference Asset(s) connected to such countries illiquid and more volatile than those in more established markets. There may be little financial or accounting information available with respect to issuer(s) of Reference Asset(s) in emerging market countries and it may be difficult as a result to assess the value or prospects of the Reference Asset(s). As a result, the risks from investing in a Structured Investment whose performance is linked to Reference Asset(s) associated with such countries may be heightened when compared to Reference Asset(s) associated with more developed countries.

3. General risks related to a particular Structured Investment

3.1 No claim against any Reference Asset.

A Structured Investment will not represent an ownership interest in any Reference Asset to which the amount(s) payable or amount of specified asset(s) deliverable in respect of the Structured Investment is dependent and you will not be able to make any ownership claims to any Reference Asset.

Investing in a Structured Investment is not the same as investing in the Reference Asset(s). The value of the Structured Investment, amount(s) payable and/or asset(s) deliverable under the Structured Investment may not reflect movements in the price, level or value of the Reference Asset(s). Unless the terms and conditions of a Structured Investment provide otherwise, you will not be entitled to any dividends, distributions, payments or voting rights in respect of any Reference Asset or, in the case of an Index-Linked Structured Investment, any component of the relevant index.

3.2 Under-performance risk

There can be no assurance that the return on an investment in a Structured Investment will match or exceed any potential return, including interest and/or dividend income, that you may otherwise earn on a direct investment in the Reference Asset(s) or in a bank deposit or non-structured fixed coupon bond or any other kind of investment.

3.3 Unwind costs for hedging transactions

Upon the termination of a Structured Investment, the Standard Chartered Group may be required to unwind, terminate, liquidate, adjust, obtain, replace or re-establish its hedging transactions, resulting in a gain to, or losses and costs incurred by, the Standard Chartered Group. Under the terms and conditions of the Structured Investment, you may receive an amount from us in respect of such gain, or, as the case may be, be required to make a payment to us in respect of such losses or costs. In such a case, any amount that would otherwise be received by you in the case of cash settlement of the Structured Investment may be adjusted accordingly. Similarly, in the case of physical settlement of the Structured Investment, you may be required to make certain payments in respect of such losses and costs incurred by the Standard Chartered Group as a condition of the delivery of any specified asset(s) by us, or, as the case may be, you may receive certain payments from us with the delivery of any specified asset(s) by us in respect of such gain to the Standard Chartered Group.

3.4 Reinvestment risk

In the event that a Structured Investment is early terminated due to any reason, you are exposed to reinvestment risk as you may not be able to reinvest any amount(s) received upon early termination at such time at the same rate or for the same return as under the terminated Structured Investment.

3.5 Risk of Structured Investments linked to interest rates

The amount(s) payable under a Structured Investment may be dependent upon the level or changes in the level of one or more interest rates. Coupons under a Structured Investment may be calculated by reference to a fixed interest rate, a floating interest rate or such other rate specified in the applicable Confirmation. Changes in the level(s) of the relevant rate(s) may affect the coupon or other amount(s) payable and/or the value of a Structured Investment.

3.6 Specific risks of Structured Investments linked to floating or variable linked interest rates

A key difference between a Structured Investment linked to a fixed interest rate and that linked to a floating or variable linked interest rate is that coupons payable on the latter cannot be anticipated. You are not able to determine a definite yield of the Structured Investment linked to a floating or variable linked interest rate at the time they invest in them (particularly if there are frequent interest determination dates) and the return on investment cannot be compared with that of a Structured Investment having longer fixed interest periods.

3.7 Foreign exchange rate exposure in respect of Structured Investments which provide for payment to be made in a currency which is different to the currency of the Reference Asset(s)

Where the terms and conditions of a Structured Investment provide that the settlement currency will be a currency which is different from the currency of the Reference Asset(s), and the Structured Investment does not have a “quanto” feature (i.e. a feature that shields the investor from changes in foreign exchange rates), you will be exposed not only to the performance of the Reference Asset(s) but also to the exchange rate(s) between the currency of the Reference Asset(s) and the settlement currency of the Structured Investment, which cannot be predicted. You should be aware that foreign exchange rates are highly volatile and determined by supply and demand for currencies in the international foreign exchange markets, which are subject to economic factors, including, among other things, inflation rates in the countries concerned, interest rate differences between the respective countries, economic forecasts, international political factors, currency convertibility and safety of making financial investments in the currency concerned, speculation and measures taken by governments and central banks (e.g. imposition of regulatory controls or taxes, issuance of a new currency to replace an existing currency, alteration of the exchange rate or exchange characteristics by devaluation or revaluation of a currency or imposition of exchange controls with respect to the exchange or transfer of a specified currency that would affect exchange rates and the availability of a specified currency).

3.8 Risks relating to currency-shielded or “quanto” Structured Investments with a settlement currency which is different to the currency of the Reference Asset(s)

If one or more Reference Asset(s) are not denominated in the currency of a Structured Investment and at the same time only the performance of the Reference Asset(s) in their denominated currency is relevant to the payout on the Structured Investment, such Structured Investment is referred to as currency-shielded or “quanto” products. The investment return depends only on the performance of the Reference Asset(s) in their denominated currency and any change in the foreign exchange rates is disregarded. Accordingly, if you hold such a “quanto” Structured Investment, you will not have the benefit of any (favourable) change in the foreign exchange rate between the currency of the Reference Asset(s) and the settlement currency of the Structured Investment that would otherwise increase the performance of the Reference Asset(s) in the absence of such “quanto” feature. In addition, changes in the relevant foreign exchange rate may indirectly influence the price of the relevant Reference Asset(s) which, in turn, could have a negative effect on the return and/or value of the Structured Investment.

3.9 Exchange rate risks and exchange controls

Amounts payable under a Structured Investment will be paid in the currency specified in the applicable Confirmation for the Structured Investment. This presents certain risks relating to currency conversions if your investment and other financial activities are denominated principally in a currency (the “Customer’s Currency”) other than the specified settlement currency. These include, among other things, the risk that foreign exchange rates may change significantly and/or suddenly (including changes due to devaluation of the specified settlement currency or revaluation of the Customer’s Currency) and the risk that government or monetary authorities with jurisdiction over the specified settlement currency and/or the Customer’s Currency may impose or modify exchange controls (as some have done in the past). An appreciation in the value of the Customer’s Currency relative to the specified settlement currency would decrease the Customer’s Currency equivalent yield on and value of the Structured Investment. As a result, you may receive amount(s) in the Customer’s Currency that are lower than expected.

3.10 Customers may receive physical delivery of certain specified asset(s) in lieu of payment of cash amount(s)

Where the terms and conditions of a Structured Investment include our right to terminate the Structured Investment at their maturity by delivering certain specified asset(s), you may receive such specified asset(s) rather than monetary amount(s) upon termination. You will, therefore, be exposed to the issuer of such specified asset(s), where applicable, and the risks associated with such specified asset(s). You should not assume that you will be able to sell such specified asset(s) for a specific price after the termination of the Structured Investment, and in particular, not for an amount equal to or greater than the initial amount invested or the price, level or value of the Reference Asset(s) on any date. Under certain circumstances, the specified asset(s) may have a very low value or may be worthless. You may be subject to laws and/or regulations that may impose restrictions, conditions and/or requirements in respect of taking delivery and/or holding of such specified asset(s). You will be responsible for ensuring compliance with any laws and/or regulations applicable to them. You may be subject to certain documentary or stamp taxes or settlement and custody charges in relation to the delivery, holding and/or disposal of such specified asset(s). You may also need to hold certain account(s) (e.g. foreign securities accounts) in order to take delivery and/or hold such specified assets.

3.11 Your obligation to pay expenses in relation to Structured Investments subject to physical delivery (where applicable)

You must pay all expenses relating to the delivery and holding of the specified asset(s) to be delivered. No delivery of the specified asset(s) will be made until all such expenses have been paid to our satisfaction. Under the terms and conditions of the Structured Investments, you will be required to pay all such expenses. It may also be necessary for you to pay on-going custody charges after the delivery has been made.

3.12 Risk of leveraged exposure

(a) Risk of leverage embedded within Structured Investments

Leverage involves the use of a number of financial techniques to increase the exposure to the Reference Asset(s), and can therefore magnify both returns and losses. While the use of leverage allows for potential multiples of a return (assuming a return is achieved) when the Reference Asset(s) move in the anticipated direction, it will conversely magnify losses when the Reference Asset(s) move in the non-anticipated direction. If a Structured Investment employs leverage, you should note that the Structured Investment will involve a higher level of risk, and that whenever there are losses such losses will be higher (other things being equal) than those of similar Structured Investments that are not leveraged. You should therefore only invest in a leveraged Structured Investment if they fully understand the effect of leverage. If the amount(s) payable or specified asset(s) deliverable under a Structured Investment are determined in conjunction with a multiplier greater than one, or by reference to some other leverage factor, the effect of changes in the prices, levels or values of the Reference Asset(s) on amount(s) payable or specified asset(s) deliverable under the Structured Investments will be magnified.

(b) Leverage obtained separately from Structured Investments

Further, you must be aware that where leverage is obtained through a loan or other credit facility separate from a Structured Investment, you will always have an obligation to repay such loan or credit facility (including interest) regardless of the amounts paid (if any) to you under the Structured Investment. This means such a loan or credit facility would still need to be repaid by you even if you lose the entire amount invested in the Structured Investment.

3.13 Certain risks in Structured Investments that include an averaging feature

The calculation of the performance of a Reference Asset in respect of a Structured Investment may be based on the average of the price or level or other measure of such Reference Asset over two or more scheduled times and/or dates. The effect of such averaging may be that the performance of the Reference Asset will not increase proportionately if the price or level or other measure of the Reference Asset sharply increases towards the end of the term or temporarily during the term. Accordingly, the effect of the averaging feature may be to lead to a reduced performance (and therefore a reduced return on the Structured Investment) than if the performance of the Reference Asset was measured at a single valuation time and/or on a single valuation date. On the other hand, a temporary decrease of price or level or other measure of the Reference Asset will not lead to a proportionate decrease of the performance of the Reference Asset if the price or level or other measure of the Reference Asset has been correspondingly higher on the remaining valuation times and/or dates.

3.14 Discretion exercised by the Calculation Agent or us may have an adverse impact on the Structured Investments

The terms and conditions of a Structured Investment provide for the Calculation Agent or us to make calculations, determinations, elections and/or adjustments in relation to the Structured Investment that may impact on the Structured Investments, including, among others, amount and/or timing of payment(s) and/or delivery(ies) under and/or the timing of termination of the Structured Investments. Any adjustment may also include substitution of any Reference Asset. As a result of the exercise of such discretion, the timing of the termination of the Structured Investments and/or the method of settlement upon termination may be affected. Any decision made by the Calculation Agent or us may have an adverse impact on the return and/or value of the Structured Investments, result in an increased risk of you losing all or part of his investment and/or a delay in you receiving payment(s) and/or delivery(ies) under the Structured Investment.

The Calculation Agent or us, when exercising any of its discretion, will not take into account your specific circumstances and/or tax or other consequences of such adjustments in any particular jurisdiction.

3.15 Bank Early Termination Option

Where the terms and conditions of a Structured Investment provide that we have the right to call for the early termination of (a "Bank Early Termination Option") a Structured Investment, this will generally mean that (i) you will not be able to participate fully (or some cases partially) in any future upside performance of the Reference Asset(s) following the early termination and (ii) the value of the Structured Investments may be limited.

One situation in which we may be expected to exercise a Bank Early Termination Option is when its cost of borrowing is lower than the interest rate on the Structured Investments.

A Bank Early Termination Option is likely to limit the value of the Structured Investment. During any period when we may elect to early terminate the Structured Investment, the value of the Structured Investment generally will not rise substantially above the amount at which they can be early terminated. This also may be true prior to any termination period.

3.16 Timing of valuation(s), payment(s), delivery(ies), settlement and/or termination may be affected by disruption and/or adjustment events

The terms and conditions of a Structured Investment provide that the Calculation Agent or we may determine that an event which amounts to a disruption has occurred in relation to the Structured Investment on any date relevant for valuation(s), payment(s), delivery(ies), settlement and/or termination under the Structured Investment. In such an event, the Calculation Agent or we may, among other potential consequences, make necessary adjustment(s) or postponement(s) to the affected dates. The timing of such dates (as scheduled or as so postponed or adjusted) or any other consequential adjustment may adversely affect the amount(s) payable and/or specified asset(s) deliverable under and/or the value of the Structured Investment. Any such adjustment or postponement may also result in the delay of the date(s) of payment, delivery and/or termination of the Structured Investment.

You should review the terms and conditions of the Structured Investment and familiarise yourself with the specific circumstances in which such disruption and/or adjustment events may arise and the potential consequences of such events.

3.17 Timing of settlement and/or termination and/or method of settlement may be affected by disruption events

Where a Structured Investment provides for physical delivery, the Calculation Agent or us may determine that a Settlement Disruption Event has occurred. A Settlement Disruption Event is an event beyond our control, as a result of which, in the opinion of the Calculation Agent, delivery of the specified asset(s) by us is not possible or commercially practicable. Any such determination may result in any physical settlement in respect of the Structured Investment being postponed until the Settlement Disruption Event is no longer continuing. We may also elect at our discretion to pay a cash amount equal to the fair market value of the specified asset(s) instead of delivering the specified asset(s).

4. Conflicts of interest

4.1 Discretion exercised by the Calculation Agent or the Bank

Potential conflicts of interest may exist between the Standard Chartered Group and/or the Calculation Agent and you, including with respect to certain discretions exercised by the Calculation Agent or the Bank, in their sole and absolute discretion, without regard to your circumstances, pursuant to the terms and conditions of a Structured Investment. Please refer to 3.16 and 3.17 of this Appendix G regarding how an exercise of discretion by the Calculation Agent or the Bank may affect a Structured Investment.

4.2 Information relating to Reference Asset(s)

The Standard Chartered Group may, prior to or at the Start Date or at any time hereafter, be in possession of information in relation to a Reference Asset that is or may be material in the context of a Structured Investment and may or may not be publicly available to the Customers. The Standard Chartered Group is not under any obligation to disclose, and will not in fact disclose, to the Customers any such information. Customers must therefore make an investment decision based upon their own due diligence and transact in Structured Investments in the knowledge that non-public information which the Standard Chartered Group may have will not be disclosed to you.

The Standard Chartered Group is not under any obligation to: (i) conduct any due diligence, investigation or performance review of any issuer of any Reference Asset; (ii) review on your behalf, the business, financial conditions, prospects, creditworthiness, status or affairs of the any issuer of any Reference Asset; or (iii) other than as may be required by applicable laws and regulations relating to a Structured Investment, make available any public or non-public information relating to any issuer of any Reference Asset linked to a Structured Investment.

- 4.3 Business relationships with or in relation to an issuer of any Reference Asset
The Standard Chartered Group and/or the Calculation Agent may have existing or future business relationships with or in relation to any issuer of any Reference Asset (including, but not limited to, lending, depositary, risk management, advisory, underwriting and banking relationships), and will pursue actions and take steps that they or it deems necessary or appropriate to protect their and/or its interests arising therefrom without regard to the consequences for you.
- 4.4 Hedging
In the ordinary course of its business, including, without limitation, in connection with its proprietary trading, market-making activities, underwriting or advisory activities, the Standard Chartered Group may effect transactions for its own account or for the account of its customers and hold long or short positions in Structured Investments, any related Reference Asset(s) or derivatives and/or other transactions. In addition, the Standard Chartered Group may enter into one or more hedging transactions with respect to a Structured Investment, any related Reference Asset(s) or derivatives. Such hedging transactions may affect the liquidity or value of Structured Investments and/or any related Reference Asset(s) and could be adverse to the interests of relevant customers.
5. Legal risks
- 5.1 Change of law
The terms and conditions of the Structured Investments are prepared based on the governing law of the Agreement. No assurance can be given as to the impact of any possible judicial decision or change to the governing law or administrative practice after the Start Date.
- 5.2 There may be regulatory consequences to customers who invest in Structured Investments
There may be regulatory and other consequences associated with the investment by you in Structured Investments. For example, you may be required to be licensed by a government authority in order to invest in Structured Investments. you must conduct your own investigation into his regulatory position with respect to the potential investment in Structured Investments, and the Bank does not assume any obligation or liability whatsoever to you in such regard.
6. Risks associated with Structured Investments linked to baskets comprising various Reference Assets
- 6.1 Exposure to performance of a basket and its underlying constituents
Where a Structured Investment references a basket of Reference Assets, the Customers are exposed to the risk and the performance of such basket as a whole and each Reference Asset in the basket.
- 6.2 A high correlation of basket constituents may have a significant effect on amount(s) payable or specified asset(s) deliverable
A high correlation of Reference Assets in a basket may have a significant effect on the amount(s) payable and/or specified asset(s) deliverable under a Structured Investment. Correlation of Reference Assets in a basket indicates the level of interdependence of the performance of the individual Reference Asset in the basket. If, for example, all of the Reference Assets in the basket are from the same sector and the same country, a high positive correlation might exist. Past rates of correlation may not be a reliable indicator of future rates of correlation: investors should be aware that, even where Reference Assets in a basket may not appear to be correlated based on past performance, it may be that they suffer the same adverse performance following a general downturn or other economic or political event. Where the Reference Assets in a basket are subject to high correlation, any event which affects the Reference Assets in the basket will result in an exaggerated effect on the performance of the Structured Investment linked to such basket.
- 6.3 Effect of weighting of each Reference Asset in a basket
You must be aware that the negative performance of a single Reference Asset in a basket may outweigh the positive performance of one or more other Reference Asset(s) in the basket and cause the performance of the basket as a whole to be negative.
A small basket, or an unequally weighted basket, will generally leave the basket more vulnerable to changes in the value(s) of the Reference Asset(s) in the basket with higher weighting(s).
- 6.4 A change in composition of a basket may have an adverse effect on basket performance
Where a Structured Investment grants the Calculation Agent or the Bank the right, in certain circumstances, to adjust the composition of the Reference Assets in a basket, you should be aware that any replacement Reference Asset in the basket may perform differently from the original Reference Asset in the basket. Such replacement may have an adverse effect on the performance of the basket.
7. Risks related to the structure of a particular Structured Investment
You should be aware that, depending on the terms and conditions of a Structured Investment, (i) you may not receive any coupon, other amount or specified asset or only a limited amount of coupon, other amount or specified asset, (ii) the payment of any coupon or other amount or delivery of any specified asset may occur at a different time than scheduled and (iii) you may lose all or a substantial portion of the initial investment amount.
The amount(s) payable and/or the specified asset(s) deliverable under a Structured Investment will be dependent upon the performance of Reference Asset(s). Accordingly, an investment in a Structured Investment may bear similar risks to a direct investment in the Reference Asset(s).

Changes to the performance or other attributes of Reference Asset(s) cannot be reliably predicted. Although historical data may be available, historical performance is not a reliable indicator of future performance. In addition, the performance or other attributes of Reference Asset(s) may be subject to significant changes that may not be in line with changes in interest rates or other Reference Asset(s) and the timing of changes may affect the actual return of a Structured Investment to you, even if the average performance or general attributes of Reference Asset(s) are consistent with their expectations.

The value of a Structured Investment may be volatile and may depend on the time remaining to maturity and the volatility of the relevant Reference Asset(s).

You should familiarize yourself with the Risk Disclosure Statements relevant to the particular Structured Investment you are investing in.

PART F: Standard Terms Relating to Facilities Granted to Individuals

1. CONDITIONS PRECEDENT TO DISBURSEMENT OF FACILITIES

- 1.1 The Bank may grant or continue to grant the Facilities to the Borrower if the following conditions are fulfilled and continue to be fulfilled:-
 - 1.1.1 The Borrower is an individual.
 - 1.1.2 All documents including the Security Document (if any) as required by the Bank are in order.
 - 1.1.3 The Security to be assigned, pledged and/or charged to the Bank is acceptable security in all respects.
 - 1.1.4 There being no legal proceedings, suits or actions of any kind whatsoever (civil or criminal) being instituted against the Borrower and/or the Security Party which in the opinion of the Bank would affect the ability of the Borrower and/or the Security Party to repay the Bank or perform and observe their obligations to the Bank. Without prejudice to the generality of the foregoing, there must not be any bankruptcy presented by or against the Borrower and/or any Security Party (if an individual) and/or a winding up resolution passed by or a winding up petition is presented by or against any Security Party (if a corporation) and/or any application made for an order for any Security Party (if a corporation) to be placed under judicial management and for the appointment of a judicial manager, that the Borrower and/or the Security Party are not in any event unable to pay their debts or are insolvent within the meaning of the Bankruptcy Act (Cap. 20), that the Borrower and/or the Security Party have not entered into any statutory or other arrangement (voluntary or otherwise) or composition for the benefit of creditors generally and that no statutory demands have been made against the Borrower and/or the Security Party.
